Berlin Feels RAF Bombings

Huddled in a doorway, men, women and children of a Berlin suburb look on as a Nazi worker clears up some of the debris caused by Royal Air Force bombs in retaliation raid. Scene is along Invaliden st. according to Nazi censor. Meanwhile, British bombings of Nazi-held French ports continue . . . and British claim high explosive bombs killed 3000 German soldiers at Lorient.

5 NATIONS MASS BALKAN ARMIES

BUCHAREST, Oct. 14 (AP)—Both Germany and Soviet Russia were reported speedily strengthening their military positions in the strategic area near the mouth of the Danube today. Russia was said to be mobilizing picked troops along the lower Danube between its junction with the river Prut and the Black sea, on the southern border of Bessarabia and to be hurriedly building large gun emplacements along that line.

German plans to build a naval air base near Constanta, Rumania's main Black sea port, were authoritatively reported.

International News Service in London reported half a million Turkish and Greek troops were said to be massing on the Bulgarian frontier prepared to resist any surprise German or Italian thrust into the Balkans.

3 OF BALKANS FEARFUL

The Turkish troops, totalling 400,000 men, were reportedly concentrating in Turkish Thrace while 120,000 Greek troops were being massed in Grecian Thrace.

Reports from Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia indicated growing alarm in those countries over Germany's military move in Rumania, I. N. S. said, but an Associated Press dispatch from Athens said Italian-Greek relations were "improved."—Editor's Note.

Preparations were made for the arrival of a German naval mission to join the Nazi army, air force and general staff officers already in Rumania. It was said the naval officers would supervise construction of the reported Constanta base.

High-ranking Nazi officers continued collaboration with the Rumanian general staff for defense of this kingdom's oil fields. German anti-aircraft guns were reported already set up around the borders of the fields and German fighter planes, air and land forces on hand.

BRITISH ENVOYS LEAVE

The Germans also were reported supervising construction of anti-aircraft emplacements between the Danube and railroad at Giurgiu, big Rumanian river oil port.

Thirty members of the British Legation staff, including naval and military attaches, and 40 other members of the British colony in Rumania, left Bucharest today by train, en route to Istanbul.

The British, on the verge of a diplomatic break with Rumania, said hundreds of their nationals would have left on Black Sea ships by Thursday.

The reported sinking of two Rumanian patrol boats by Soviet monitors aggravated the tension in Rumania, already made anxious by reports of large-scale Soviet military preparations.

Well-informed sources in Bucharest said the Rumanian vessels were sunk recently in hotly contested, simultaneous actions, one at Chilia, a river port on one of the branches of the Danube at the Bessarabian border, and the other in the Star of Istanbul canal which leads out of Chilia to the Black sea.

Russia regained Bessarabia and northern Bucovina from Rumania during the summer; she had lost them to Rumania as a result of the World War—Editor's note.

Rumanian authorities also charged that Russian vessels stationed at

Italy Hails Victory Over British Fleet In Clash at Night

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—Italy hailed as her second naval triumph of the war today a high command claim that light Fascist warships and planes sank one British cruiser, damaged another and hit an aircraft carrier in a violent day and night battle off the Island of Malta.

The high command admitted the loss of a destroyer and two torpedo boats in the encounter but claimed victory because, they said, the British loss amounted to 7000 tons to only 2600 tons for the Fascist force.

((Authoritative sources in London acknowledged the possibility of a Mediterranean clash but said they had no information to bear out the Italian claims.)—Editor's note.

34 KILLED, CHURCH HIT

In another communique, the high command said British planes had attacked the fort of Portolago on Leros, one of the Dodecanese islands, "scoring a direct hit on a Catholic church and other civilian buildings, and killing altogether 34 persons and injuring 20 without considerable damage to military objectives. Two enemy planes were shot down."

The British cruiser reported sunk was described as "probably of the Neptune type."

(Vessels of this class are listed in Jane's Fighting Ships as in the Leander class, which includes the Ajax and the Achilles, two of the three vessels which chased the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee to her death in the harbor of Montevideo, Uruguay, last December. They average 7000 tons, normally carry 550 men, and are armed with eight torpedo tubes, eight six-inch guns, eight four-inch anti-aircraft guns, 14 smaller guns and plane catapults.—Editor's note.

"The aircraft carrier was hit on the prow by a heavy caliber bomb," the high command asserted. "One heavy cruiser was damaged on the left side. Two enemy planes were shot down. One of our planes failed to return."

HEAD FOR GREECE

After the battle, which the Fascists said occurred Friday night and Saturday in the eastern Mediterranean off the British stronghold of Malta, a correspondent of Stefani, official Italian news agency, said the cruiser reported damaged was sailing slowly between two torpedo boats as the ships headed for Greece.

There was no indication as to the loss of life. The Italians said "a large part" of the crews of the three Fascist vessels sunk were saved.

By the Italian reckoning, Italy now holds two victories in three clashes with Britain's Mediterranean naval force; this one and one in an encounter off Punto Stilo, July 9.

(The British differed sharply on the Punto Stilo incident, asserting that the Italian sea force fled as soon as it came within extreme range of the British men o' war.)—Editor's note.

In another fight, the 5069-ton Italian light cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni was sunk by the Australian cruiser Sydney off the Island of Crete July 19.

AS AXIS HEADS MEET AT BRENNER PASS—Immediately after leaving his armored train at Brennero, Italy, in the Brenner Pass, Adolf Hitler inspects honor guard of Italian soldiers as Benito Mussolini, Italy's strong man, walks behind him. The dictators sat in Il Duce's train and charted war plans which are secret . . . . as yet.

NIGHT RAIDERS AGAIN BLAST LONDON; RUINS CLEANED UP

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The first raiders of the German night force scouted London's suburbs tonight after two daylight alarms in which scattered damage was done to the capital and other parts of Britain.

The first planes brought only a few suburban defense guns into action, but the batteries set up a louder and louder rumble as the minutes passed.

Night raiders also were reported over Liverpool again, a northwestern town and a town in the southwest.

A huge four-engined German bomber which flew over a London suburb was unofficially reported to have crashed after being crippled by anti-aircraft fire.

200 FAMILIES

London had two daylight raid alarms up to mid-afternoon but they resulted in little damage, however, the Nazi raiders having been turned back by fighters and anti-aircraft barrages, according to British accounts.

More than 200 families had to be moved from one area of a town in western Scotland where two explosive and three time bombs were released.

One Nazi plane discharged five bombs from a power dive on an East Anglian coast town and several houses were wrecked. There were five casualties, two fatal.

Another raider dived out of the clouds and dropped two bombs on a town near London, one destroying four houses in a row and causing some casualties, a few fatal. Heavy ground fire drove the raider away when he tterupted to repeat the performance.

Other raiders were reported on the northeast and on the outskirts of London, where there was heavy gunfir.

Meanwhile 5000 men began a systematic clearing away of London's wreckage from the bomb war.

Troops known as the Pioneer Corps set out today to bomb-shattered areas with picks, spades, ropes and pneumatic drills.

WRECKERS BUSY

Unemployed men recruited by labor exchanges joined them in the work of pulling down dangerous walls of gutted buildings and salvaging materials useful for shelters or reconstruction work.

The night-long attack was described as "average" for London but more severe than usual in other parts of the country. Bombs fell in 36 districts of the capital and 20 sections elsewhere.

Heaviest casualties were reported in London, Liverpool and two northeastern industrial towns whose names were not disclosed.

Homes in several sections of the capital were smashed, burying families huddled within. Many of the London casualties were caused when bombs wrecked a whole block of flats.

With workers still digging in the ruins for dead and injured, a gov-

Carol, Magda Stop at Hotel, Envoys Leave

SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 14 (AP)—The presence of ex-King Carol of Rumania, his red-haired friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu and his regal entourage cost the Andalusia Palace Hotel here some business today.

Francesco Lequito, Italian ambassador to Spain, declined to stay at the municipally-owned establishment even though he was Italian minister to Bucharest during Carol's reign.

Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador who is en route to Gibraltar, also changed his plans and stayed at another hotel.

Carol and Mme. Lupescu arrived yesterday with an entourage including Mme. Lupescu's maid, three secretaries, three chauffeurs, six other servants and this property:

One hundred and fifty-two trunks.
A collection of rifles.
Three automobiles
Four Rembrandt paintings (value: priceless).
A valuable stamp collection.
A big china collection.
Four dogs.

Finn of Night Clubs Jailed for Alimony

Rarely is the problem "When is abookie?" propounded to the presiding justice of Suffolk Probate Court, but it was today, and off to Charles st. jail marched dapper Walter Finn of Brookline, sometime night club impressario.

ALIMONY ROW—With her ex-husband, Walter Finn, some $200 in arrears in alimony payments, Mrs. Rosalind Badaracco Finn today appeared in Suffolk court . . . told her story to the judge and Finn was sentenced to 30 days. Finn was questioned on his allegedly pursuit of night-club star Eunice Healy.

Judge John V. Mahoney gave the handsome young man 30 days, not for pursuing an occupation frowned upon in certain circles, but because the court felt that a bookie ought to be able to keep up payments to his divorced wife. And Finn was $200 in the red.

The hearing, on petition of blonde ex-Mrs. Rosalind Badaracco Finn, was featured with many interesting sidelights — that a lavish gambling club operates on Long Island, N. Y., that a "commission broker" doesn't place bets. Last, but not least, came the name of beauteous Eunice Healy.

Walter Finn

Eunice, maybe you remember, took Ruby Keeler's place in Al Jolson's hit "Hold On to Your Hats" and she's one of the current toasts of Broadway. Finn was asked a series of questions about pursuing her, but he steadily maintained he had done no such thing.

The defendant was cut loose by his wife in May, 1939, on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment and Mrs. Finn received custody of a son, 2½ and an award of $15 a week.

Last May she claimed Walter was $45 in arrears and after several continuances the case came up today, with the arrears now $200.

SAYS HE FLIES TO N. Y.

Finn, a fashion-plate, took the stand to explain that he was out of work and couldn't pay up. He was looking for work, too, he added.

On the other hand came Mrs. Finn with testimony that her ex-spouse was a bookie and used to make $100 to $150 a week at that business. Furthermore he goes to New York frequently and always flies, she averred.

"Have you ever been engaged

C. R. Boggs' Widow Kills Self in N. Y.

Heart-broken over the recent death of her husband and fearing she was a burden to her children, Mrs. Florence Boggs, 55, widow of Charles Reid Boggs, Cambridge electrical magnate and former vice-president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, committed suicide at the home of her daughter in New York today.

According to police dispatches from New York, her body was found on the roof ledge of the 12-story apartment building where she had lived with her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy S. Dennis, and son-in-law since her husband's death last April.

Police said she had placed a rope around her neck, consumed a bottle of whiskey, swallowed poison tablets and then slashed her wrists.

Police said she had apparently intended to leap, but died on the roof instead. She left a note stating she did not wish to be a burden to her children.

She was the former Florence B. Crafts of Brookline, and besides her daughter is survived by a son, Charles Reid Boggs, Jr., also of New York.

At the time of his death at his home in Wamesit rd., Waban, Boggs was vice-president, general manager and director of the Simplex Wire and Cable Co. of Cambridge.

He was a leader in the electric cable industry and an authority on the chemistry of rubber. Author of many technical papers, he shared in the discovery of vulcanization accelerators.

WILLKIE LASHES SMEAR, CITES OWN WAR RECORD

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN, TOURING NEW YORK STATE, Oct. 14 (INS)—Pivotal upstate New York, carrying the balance of power in the state outcome of the presidential election—and possibly the outcome nationally—today heard Wendell Willkie strike back vigorously at a "German ancestry" pamphlet which came to light in New York last week.

At the same time, the Republican nominee condemned what he termed "jockying for bids" for defense weapons and "perfectionists" he accused of delaying the selection of plane and tank types. As President, Willkie said, he would permit neither.

In his first speech of the day at Schenectady, Willkie marshalled the World War services of his family, member by member, before an audience of 6500, including occupants of an office floor occupied by CIO unions who applauded vigorously from window-ledge vantage points as Willkie spoke.

Introduced by Oswald D. Heck, speaker of the state assembly, Willkie declared:

"You can judge much of what parties and individuals are trying to do by the character of the campaign they conduct. The opposition party strategy has become perfectly obvious—to deal with the most corrupt political machines while the third term candidate talks in lofty language about leadership in world affairs.

NOT PREPARED FOR WAR

"We are totally unprepared for war. We must, if we possibly can, keep this country at peace. I hate war from the very soles of my feet to the top of my head. My hate is not theoretical.

"My father and mother lived in the little town of Elwood, Indiana. Their six children, through their joint efforts, went through college.

"When the war came in 1917, my father who had lived his life as a belligerent supporter of civil liberties and who had such a hatred of any form of military autocracy, went to Washington although he was 60 years of age and tried to enlist in the armed forces. When he was refused, he devoted his time to making addresses. My mother gave all her time to Red Cross work.

"My oldest sister was a profes-

Refugee Pair Dead In Suicide Pact

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP)—A man identified as a wealthy German political refugee and a woman, also described as a refugee from her homeland, who were found dead in a hotel room, were today said by police to have left a note saying they had decided to end their lives.

A hotel employe found the fully clad bodies on beds pushed side-to-side, with the man's left hand clasping the woman's right hand.

Det. Lieut. William Clow named the man as Hans Bielschowsky, 59, and the woman as Mrs. Ebba Graetz, about 41, widow of a "Paul Gratez," both of New York.

OVERDOSE OF SEDATIVES

Clow said the couple, who registered at the Hotel Stacy-Trent last night, had taken "a terrific overdose" of sedative capsules.

Rudolph Bielschowsky, of New York, a brother of the dead man, said Hans had been president of "Telefunken," a large German electrical concern, until 1935 when he fled Berlin "because of his Jewish blood."

Hans was married but living apart from his wife, his brother said. One of eight notes left in the hotel room was addressed to Rudolph, but police, until completing the investigation, declined to give it to the brother.

Since coming to New York about five years ago, Hans had been retired, his brother told police. In Hans' effects, police said, was a pass book from a New York bank showing a deposit balance of $48,000.

WIDOW OF ACTOR

In New York a friend of Bielschowsky and Mrs. Graetz said that the woman was the widow of a famous Viennese comedian who died in Hollywood a few years ago.

The friend, who declined to be identified by her name, said that Bielschowsky and Mrs. Graetz had known each other from childhood and had been close friends in recent years.

The friend said that Mrs. Graetz had "felt some financial pinch" recently.

"Her husband, Paul Graetz, was considered one of the foremost actors in Germany. He left there several years ago and came to this country. For a long time he was unable to find work. Then a couple of years ago he did get a part—an excellent part—in a Hollywood movie. Shortly after he began work, he fell sick suddenly and died."

AMMONIA FLAMES ENDANGER SCORES

Lives of scores of workers at the plant of the Monsanto Chemical Co. off Broadway, Everett, were menaced today when flames from an empty 20,000-gallon ammonia tank that was being dismantled spread to the upper floors of a building containing highly inflammable and explosive chemicals.

Workers in adjoining buildings fled for safety as firemen in gas masks battled to control the blaze.

The fire originated as workers inside the ammonia tank were cutting the steel with acetylene torches. Sparks from the torches set fire to the staging on which they were working and ignited fumes.

Three workmen succeeded in escaping from the tank as the flames shot upward and spread to the fourth and fifth floors of an adjoining wooden structure, known as the ammonia building.

Donning gas masks, firemen under Chief James J. Evans braved the fumes and dense smoke and succeeded in confining the blaze to the upper portion of the building.

Chief Evans estimated the damage at $2000 and said nobody had been injured or overcome.

Plant officials were reluctant to discuss the fire, but asserted the chemicals and explosive materials in course of manufacture were not for national defense purposes.

Court Rebukes Speeding Cops In Auto Chase

NEWBURYPORT, Oct. 14—Ruling that two policemen were breaking the law just as much as the defendant in chasing his speeding automobile, Judge Oscar H. Nelson today found Myron L. Stevenson, 34, of Amesbury, innocent of driving so as to endanger and refusing to stop for an officer.

Stevenson, an automobile salesman, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $10.

City Marshal James E. Sullivan upheld the action of Officers Francis Foley and George Chaisson who pursued Stevenson from High st., here, to Ipswich, a distance of 13 miles, firing two shots in the air before capturing him.

The marshal told the court at the start of the chase Stevenson had extinguished his lights in an attempt to throw off his pursuers, and that the officers exercised "police sense" in keeping after him as he might have been a criminal.

Judge Nelson, in making his finding, said speeding was only a misdemeanor and that the officers had no right to pursue the defendant 13 miles, but should have just blown their whistles. He said if Stevenson was driving to endanger, so were the policemen.

Inspectors Ready For Auto Check-up

Registry of Motor Vehicles inspectors take to the big ys Thursday for the annual fall check-up, and woe betide the motorist found with faulty equipment.

All automobiles not carrying the O. K. inspection sticker, showing that brakes, lights and other safety equipment has been placed in good working order, face suspension of registration.

RALLIES TO AMERICANISM—Bernarr Macfadden, physical culturist and magazine editor, is welcomed to Boston by official greeter Louis Brems . . . as he flies here to preside over the first of 14 Americanism rallies to be held throughout the country.

MACFADDEN SEES U. S. ROBBED OF SECURITY

The New Deal has robbed the nation of a feeling of security, Bernarr Macfadden, noted magazine publisher, said on his arrival in Boston today to address the first of 14 Americanism rallies to be held throughout the country.

Macfadden told interviewers the situation in the United States is much the same as in France and England before the war crisis broke.

The publisher also had a word of warning for labor leaders. He said that if the government brings the CIO and the A. F. of L. together and then succeeds in appointing a new leader it will mean 100 per cent government control of labor organizations.

If Wendell L. Willkie is elected President, Macfadden said he hoped he would get some real advisers to help him in contrast to the present group in Washington which he classed as "a lot of schoolboys."

The purpose of the rally he will address at the Boston Arena tonight, Macfadden said, was to arouse patriotism and Americanism, for which he says there is a great need in the country.

The rally is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. and will be conducted along non-secretarian and non-political lines. Admission is free.

15 HURT IN NIGHT CRASHES

Fifteen persons were injured in three spectacular auto accidents during the night, including the plunge of one machine through a fence to the New Haven railroad tracks in the South End.

The car failed to make a turn at the end of Greenwich pk., near Massachusetts ave., South End, and tore a large hole through a wall separating the dead-end street from the railroad tracks.

LIGHT FLARES

Police and railroad workers lit warning flares along the tracks while the wreckage was being removed. Two persons were believed injured in the crash but disappeared when police arrived.

Two couples received serious injuries when their car skidded in Webster ave., Chelsea, and struck a tree. Morris L. Dillon, 18, of Chestnut st., Chelsea, suffered compound fractures of both arms while Miss Helen Atkins, 17, of Union st., Everett, sustained severe knee injuries. She was pinned under the crushed dashboard and had to be cut free.

Also hurt were Cecila Ullian, 17, of Baker rd., Everett, and Morris Chadis, 19, Court st., Chelsea. All were taken to Chelsea Memorial Hospital.

NINE INJURED

Nine persons were injured, four seriously, in a head-one crash on Route 128 at the Dedham-Westwood line. The victims were removed to the Norwood Hospital and Faulkner Hospital, Jamaica Plain.

On the danger list were Dorothy McDonough, Nahatan st., Norwood; Charles Hennett, South st., Wrentham; Barbara Abbt, Kinnaird st., Cambridge, and Jesse Litner, Hancock pl., Cambridge.

in bookmaking?" the defendant was asked.

"Yes," said he. "In 1934 and 1935, but never at the night club where I was employed. And not since 1935."

Money he had paid up, Finn went on to explain, was often borrowed from his uncle—the uncle who took the stand later.

"Have you ever worked at a lavish Long Island gambling resort?" asked Mrs. Finn's counsel.

"I worked there for eight weeks," replied the defendant.

Judge Mahoney took a hand and wanted to know the name of the place.

"It's the Island Club," Finn explained.

Then came Eunice's name.

Q—Didn't you take Eunice Healy to the Harvard-Yale game last year? A—No.

Q—Did you take her to any football games last year? A—No sir.

Q—Didn't you see her in New York? A—No.

Q—Didn't you see her at Cocoanu Grove? —A—I haven't seen her for a year.

Mrs. Finn's counsel questioned about the uncle in the case.

Q—What does your uncle do? A—He's a commission broker.

Q—He's a bookie, isn' the? A—Oh, no!

The uncle, Morris Hacker of Brookline, was called to the stand. He testified he used to lend Walter $5 or $10 a at time and then he was asked:

"What do you do?"

"I'm a commission broker," he replied. And then he explained: "I buy and sell bets. I don't book bets directly."

Judge Mahoney, after hearing it all, announced:

"I find as a fact that Mr. Finn worked as a bookie and is continuing his occupation today. Thirty days."

N. Y. Death Suspect In Hub Court Battle

Wanted on a charge of murdering a New York waterfront gangster in Card Sound, Fla., Edward J. McGrath, 24, of East 94th st., New York, today prepared in Boston to fight efforts of police to return him there on a fugitive from justice complaint.

In municipal court Judge Joseph Donovan ordered McGrath held without bail until Friday. The case now goes to the Attorney-General, who will supply Governor Saltonstall with a legal opinion on the merit of the complaint sought.

Florida authorities allege that McGrath participated in the murder of Leo Tocci, one of five gangsters charged with kidnaping a 17-year-old Brooklyn night club singer and holding her a love captive.

ARRESTED IN HUB

Tocci's bullet-riddled body was found by fishermen floating in Card Sound, Florida, on Sept. 22. All of his companions in the kidnaping are charged with being members of Brooklyn's Murder, Inc., and two are now in Sing Sing's death house.

Special Investigator I. R. Mills, representing a Florida state attorney's office, came here for McGrath when informed by Boston police they had detained him on the strength of a circular sent out by Florida police.

Police believe Tocci, who had three aliases, fled to Florida after the kidnaping and was murdered for trying to muscle in on the waterfront territory of another New York gang.

Identification of Tocci as the fifth man in the kidnaping was made by Brooklyn authorities prosecuting members of Murder, Inc. However, they told Florida authorities their evidence connected Tocci only with the kidnaping.

Frank (The Dasher) Abbandando and Harry (Happy (Maione, both waiting death at Sing Sing, and two others now waiting prosecution, are the men alleged to have participated with Tocci in the kidnaping.

KIDNAPING OF GIRL

According to testimony given during Murder, Inc., trials, the five men seized the girl singer on the night of Aug. 24, 1939, when she was substituting for the regular entertainer.

Abbandando and Maione, it was testified, after spiriting her to a secluded parking lot with the aid of the other three men, beat her on the head and attacked her.

Fearing the girl might tattle, the five at first decided to put her to death. But the two gangsters now facing death prevailed on the others to keep her alive and a love captive in a gang hideout for months, it was testified.

In order to prevent the girl's mother from spreading an alarm they gave her the choice of renting her daughter for $500 or having the young girl killed. The terrified mother kept quiet.

Florida police at first described both Tocci and McGrath as rival labor leaders. McGrath has told police here he will fight return to Florida.

YOUTH ACCUSED IN ASSAULT—Kathleen (left) and Elizabeth McDonald leave Roxbury court today after Thomas Riddle, 20, was committed to Psychopathic Hospital for observation after he was accused of assault against two girls. Riddle is accused of knocking down an 80-year-old man who went to the girls' rescue.

YOUTH HELD IN ATTACK ON 3 ROXBURY GIRLS

How three young and attractive Roxbury girls, two of them Boston University graduates, battled for their honor when accosted by a 20-year-old youth near their home, was told by police in Roxbury court today.

Also how an 80-year-old man had gone to the aid of the girls and was himself knocked down, as a boy neighbor of the girls finally brought the would-be attacker down with a flying tackle and held him for police.

Judge Timothy J. Ahern heard details of the story from Sgt. Michael Byrne of Roxbury Crossing station, when Thomas Riddle, 20, of Lake st., Wilmington, was arraigned on serious charges.

ON THEIR WAY HOME

Riddle was charged with assault and battery with criminal intent on Kathleen McDonald, 19, of Cedar st., Roxbury, and assault and battery on her sister, Elizabeth, 21, and John Hart, 80, also of Cedar st.

With the two sisters at the time was Miss Bertha Thomas, 22, who lives with the McDonald girls. All three were on their way home when accosted by Riddle.

Sgt. Byrne testified that the accused youth accosted the three girls as they neared their home Friday night.

"Kathleen didn't like the expression on his face and started to run," Sgt. Byrne testified. "The other two girls ran in the opposite direction."

OTHER GIRLS AID HER

Sergt. Byrne said Riddle chased Kathleen, caught up with her and knocked her to the ground and that in the struggle she was severely bruised.

Hearing her screams, the other girls returned to aid her, at the same time that Hart heard the cries and also ran and tackled the youth, the court was told.

Sergt. Byrne then testified that the aged man succeeded in pulling the youth away from the prostrate girl, but was knocked down by the attacker, who fled.

He further testified that another youth, Robert Moreau, 20, of Cedar st., ran after Riddle and brought him down with a flying tackle, holding him until police arrived.

After hearing the police testimony against Riddle, who had pleaded not guilty to the charges, Judge Ahern committed him to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation and continued the case to Oct. 25.

High Court O. K's Browder Review

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Earl Browder, presidential nominee of the Communist Party in the United States, won a supreme court review today of his conviction on a charge of wilfully using a passport obtained by false statements.

The same court session agreed to pass on the Justice Department's contention that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation made "unconscionable profits" on 86 ships constructed for the government during the World War.

HOW UNCLE SAM PICKS HIS MEN AFTER REGISTRATION

This is the second in a series of articles of vital interest to all men in the 21 to 35 age groups affected by the Selective Service Act. The first article, explaining Registration, or "R-Day," appeared in the Boston Sunday Advertiser yesterday. If you missed it, you may procure back copies of this paper at the Circulation Dept., 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

By JAMES DOOLING

For purposes of this article, let's assume that you have registered and have the certificate in your pocket which proves that you have fulfilled your first obligation under 1940 draft law.

What does this "draft number" mean? There are no draft numbers on your certificate, and the serial number and order number spaces on your registration card were blank when you signed it.

Here is what happens now. The draft board in your local area will provide the serial number. The national drawing at Washington will provide the order number. Both of these steps will be taken before you receive the questionnaire for your classification.

WORK IS DONE

If you remember, it was the duty of election officials in your community to register you. When they total up the number of registrants and forward their report and registration cards to proper headquarters at the end of "R-Day," their work is done.

Now the draft board takes over. All the registration cards in your local area will be in the hands of that board.

As the cards come up, the board starts numbering each, beginning with 1, and continuing consecutively until the last. This is how your card gets its serial number.

"Four lists of the serial numbers in each area will be published," said Maj. David R. Weden. "One is posted publicly at the local draft board office. One goes to the press. One goes to state headquarters and the fourth is retained by each board."

SENT TO WASHINGTON

Now the serial number lists for each of the 6500 areas throughout the country are forwarded to Washington for the next step—the national drawing or lottery—which will determine each man's order number.

And this order number is the one which will tell the story on your possible selection and induction into service!

At Washington numbers starting with 1, and running up to and beyond the highest serial number reported from any of the 6500 areas, are placed in opaque capsules — something like the druggist uses, but blue, so no one can possibly see the rolled-up numbered paper inside.

The capsules are placed in a bowl and it's likely the President will draw the first.

Let's suppose that there are 2500 men registered in your local area; that the area in the country with the largest number of registrants has 3500. And your serial number --the one your local draft board gave your card—is 188.

The President picks up a capsule. The number inside is 3127.

In every area in the country where there is a man with the serial number 3127, he gets order number 1.

There are only 2500 numbers in your area. This draw doesn't count for you.

YOUR NUMBER PASSED

The second capsule is picked with the serial number 2424 inside. Now the man in your area with the serial number 2424 gets his order number. For him, it is 1. In the areas where there were men with serial number 3127, those who had 2424 get order number 2.

Serial number 3460 comes up next. Wherever there is a man with a serial number 3460, he gets an order, obviously 3. But in your area, again the order number is passed. Your board has no 3460.

Now 188 comes out. In your area you will get order number 2. In those other areas, every man with serial number 188 gets order number 4.

Thus it continues until the last capsule is drawn from the bowl. (There will be capsules with numbers higher than the highest serial number to provide for late registrants. Probably a margin of 500 to 1000.)

This may sound complicated, but it isn't. The lineup after the fourth draw would look like this:

SERIAL NUMBER (General)	ORDER NUMBER (In 3500 areas)	ORDER NUMBER (In 2500 area—YOURS)
3127	1	—
2424	2	1
3460	3	—
188	4	2

When the last capsule has been drawn and the last order number is established Selective Service is ready to go on to the classification stage. You have two numbers now —a serial number and an order number.

What happens next will be told in the Boston Evening American tomorrow in the article entitled "Your Draft Questionnaire."

6 NAMED TO EXPLAIN DRAFT

Announcement of the appointment of six speakers to explain the Selective Service program to clubs, fraternal societies and other organizations was made today as last-minute preparations were under way for registration of 600,000 men in Massachusetts.

Governor Saltonstall said the speakers, members of the Public Safety Council, will be available to explain the various phases of the draft law to large groups upon request.

The speakers are Walter I. Badger, Jr., Richard Gerould, Bennett Sanderson, Jules Burns, Robert Hunneman and Howland Warren.

NAVAL OFFICER AIDS

At the same time, Lieut.-Commander John C. Hurd, U. S. N. R., arrived at selective service headquarters here to remain for two weeks. During this period he will advise on classification of draft registrants with particular attention to those who claim occupational deferments.

Throughout the state municipal officials reported they were in readiness for the tremendous task of registering all men in the 21-35 age classes on Wednesday, "R-Day," between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Members of local draft boards in the 173 areas in the state were to meet tonight and tomorrow for their final instructions.

The boards of the eastern part of the state will meet in Gardner auditorium at the State House tonight. Those in the western sections will meet at Springfield High School tomorrow evening.

ASK MEN TO AID

Pointing to the tremendous effort involved in registering the draftees in a single day, draft officials appealed to the men to lend all possible aid to the registrars.

It was estimated in Washington today that Boston would register 100,000 men; Cambridge 14,500; Somerville 18,600; Fall River 12,400; Lowell 10,500; New Bedford 12,200; Worcester 22,700 and Springfield 18,600.

Reminded that they share a patriotic responsibility with the registrars, the draftees were urged to locate beforehand the place where they are expected to register. They also are requested to have the major details at their fingertips—the exact date and place of their birth, their weight, height, legal address and similar data.

Assisted by an army of school teachers, World War veterans and other volunteers, draft officials will amass the figures at City Hall, from where they will be wired under direction of the Governor to Washington.

Faneuil Hall will be registration center for visitors and non-residents of Boston who cannot register with their own local boards, Wednesday.

Bonus for First Draftee There

OLYPHANT, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP)—The first man drafted from the "Flats" section of this eastern Pennsylvania borough is going to get a "bonus" collected by a taproom operator.

Joseph Kranick, the proprietor, solicits the three pennies in change which customers get with packages of cigarettes from a vending machine. He said the contributions—now totaling about $5—will be turned over to the section's first conscriptee.

"MR. BOSTON," Jack Conway's informative column of sports news, is a regular feature in the Boston Evening American.

WAGES-HOURS RULING DROPS OVERTIME PAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—The wage-hour administration revised its rules today for the exemption of "white collar" workers from hours restrictions of the labor standards laws, establishing a $200 monthly salary as one yard-stick for determining who is an exempt administrative or professional employe.

The new rules go into effect October 24 when 40 hours becomes the standard work week for all workers covered by the act.

Officials said they did not know how many persons would be affected.

Classes of workers exempted from overtime provisions under today's order were, roughly:

1—Executives—Those whose primary duty consists of management.

2 — Administrative employes — Those who make at least $200 a month and regularly assist an executive in tasks requiring exercise of judgment and discretion.

3—Professional employes—Those who make at least $200 a month and whose work is predominantly intellectual, requiring consistent exercise of discretion and judgment.

4—Local retail employes — Those who make retail sales the greater part of which are in intrastate commerce and whose hours of work of the same nature as that performed by non-exempt workers do not exceed 20 per cent of the number worked in a week by those non-exempt employes.

5—Outside Salesmen — Those whose work keeps them customarily away from their employers' business places, with the same 20 per cent limitation described under No. 4.

Attorney Kerrigan Suicide in Home

The suicide by strangulation of Thomas F. Kerrigan, 56, of East E st., South Boston, a well-known Boston attorney, was revealed today with the discovery of his body in the bedroom of his home.

His wife, Mrs. Mary J. Kerrigan, found the body lying on a bed with sheets tied around the neck running to the bedroom door.

Police said that Kerrigan was brooding over a series of recent illnesses and had twice made unsuccessful suicide attempts.

Henry H. Timken Dead at 72

CANTON, O., Oct. 14 (AP)—Henry H. Timken, 72, chairman of the Timken Rolling Bearing Co., died today of pneumonia.

Timken, whose father developed the Timken roller bearing and a revolutionary carriage spring, was active in Republican affairs and was a substantial contributor to the party's campaigns. He was former chairman of the Hercules Motor Corp., of Canton.

Timken and his father opened the Timken Roller Bearing Axle Co. at Canton in 1902. The axle business later became the Detroit-Timken Axle Co. of Detroit. The Canton company expanded to employ 10,000 to 11,000 men in plants in Canton, Wooster, Columbus and Mt. Vernon, O.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Edith Kitsmiller Timken, whom he married in 1904 at Braddock, Pa., and their three Harvard-educated sons, Henry H. Timken, Jr., vice-president of the Timken firm; Robert Timken, also an executive of the company, and John Timken of Cambridge, Mass. A brother, William R. Timken of New York, is a director. A sister, Mrs. Cora Burnett of New York, also survives.

MIST OVER CHANNEL

DOVER, England, Oct. 14 (AP)—Thick mist covered the Strait of Dover today, blotting out the sea and sky. The wind was in the southeast.

HINES OFF TO PRISON, PROTESTS INNOCENCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Still protesting his innocence, James J. (Jimmy) Hines, for more than a quarter-century one of New York's most powerful political bosses, departed today for Sing Sing prison to begin a 4 to 8-year sentence for protecting the $20,000,000 gambling syndicate of the late Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer.

The 63-year-old former Tammany district leader, clad in a blue serge suit and wearing his usual soft gray hat, declared:

"I slept well last night. I'll sleep well tonight and every night I'm in prison because I know I'm innocent and the truth will come out."

He whistled abstractedly, then broke off to add:

"I'm not going to let this get me down. I'm going to take my medicine."

Then he expressed the "hope that Davis, Dewey and Schoenhaus will sleep as well."

"NO SQUAWK AT DIXIE"

"If any of them has a conscience, I know they won't," he said. "That's no squawk. I haven't been squawking."

Hines referred to J. Richard (Dixie) Davis and "Big Harry" Schoenhaus, two of his co-defendants, and Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney who prosecuted them.

Davis received a one-year sentence, with six months off for the time he had served—he is now free—and Schoenhaus was given a suspended sentence. Both testified for the state.

Alone, Hines walked into the courtroom where in less than a minute he was remanded to Sheriff Daniel E. Finn, Jr., and his bail on which he had been free since April 4, was discharged. Under state law, Hines will be eligible for parole after serving two years and eight months.

LAST DAY GOLFING

His attitude today contrasted with that of the night of Feb. 25, 1939, when the jury returned a guilty verdict—a verdict Hines then said made him feel as if he had "been kicked in the belly."

The heavy shouldered one-time blacksmith, who literally fought his way to power in the inner councils of Tammany, started his trip to Sing Sing in an automobile.

His last hope of re-trial on charges of corrupting police and magistrates in behalf of Schultz vanished last week when the court of appeals affirmed his conviction.

He spent his last hours of freedom yesterday golfing on a Long Island course. Hines said he had been "golfing and swimming all summer. I never felt better in my life."

An ANNOUNCEMENT

GENERAL MOTORS recognizes the present emergency. It realizes its duty to the nation to advance in every way within its power the program of National Defense. It has already assumed most important obligations. But in addition General Motors believes that industry today has a second responsibility—one of vital consequence. American defense demands first call on those products of industry, both as to scope and volume, which are essential to protecting the nation against aggression. It also demands, even though the fact be less generally recognized, a sound and virile economy. One is the complement of the other. A sound economy is essential to the objectives of the defense program.

In line with its conception of this dual responsibility, General Motors presents at this time its 1941 offerings of motor cars. It has combined with the important responsibilities it has assumed under the defense program its normal responsibilities incident to our peacetime economy. The new line of motor cars is now on display before the critical judgment of the public at the Automobile Shows and in General Motors dealer showrooms in every community throughout the land.

It has always been the policy of General Motors to build into its products the greatest possible measure of value. It has created an engineering group which, from the very beginning of the industry, has made far-reaching contributions to technical progress. It has contributed importantly to the motor car's becoming the serviceable mechanism of today. From the electric self-starter in the early days down through the years, one engineering achievement has followed another. And in great variety: tilt-beam headlights, Duco lacquer finishes, crankcase ventilation, syncro-mesh transmission, Fisher No Draft Ventilation, Knee-Action wheels, Turret Top, automatic transmissions and steering column gearshift.

But that is not all! General Motors technicians have demonstrated their versatility by developing such engineering products as the Diesel locomotive, destined to revolutionize transportation by rail. The Allison engine—an outstanding development in aviation engine practice and now coming into mass production—is making a contribution to one highly technical phase of the problem of National Defense. And in an allied field, tetra-ethyl lead as a component of gasoline has revolutionized the relationship of the fuel to the engine, producing more power with less weight and with greater efficiency. As a result, not an airplane leaves the ground today without in effect reflecting tribute to the technical capacity of General Motors. We are proud of this record of accomplishment. It is the accumulated experience of such an engineering group that has been built into the General Motors 1941 models.

In the different lines of motor cars comprising the General Motors offerings, there will be found countless refinements and innovations—some in some cars, some in others, but reflected to an important degree in all:

A technical improvement of importance is a new fuel system—Compound Carburetion. It is an innovation in motor car engineering practice. To the regular carburetion system is added a second, or supplemental, carburetor which can come into action when the driver requires additional performance. In effect, but not in principle, it is like the supercharger. The engineering benefits resulting from this achievement take the form of added performance and increased fuel economy. This is exemplified in Buick.

A safety feature worthy of note, based upon the Unisteel Turret Top body introduced by General Motors some years ago, consists of all doors being swung from the front. Thus they open against the windstream of a car in motion. This tends to eliminate the hazard of doors swinging open if accidentally unlatched. The same feature provides greater convenience for front and rear door passengers alighting from the car at the same time.

A year ago General Motors announced a new mechanism to connect the axle with the engine—the Hydra-Matic drive. You simply steer! The clutch is entirely eliminated. That is a most important feature. The changes in gear ratio or speeds are automatic. This device is designed to take the transmission out of driving technique. And it does! This has been exemplified in Oldsmobile. The outstanding acceptance of this Hydra-Matic drive as evidenced by the testimony of many thousands of enthusiastic users has had a stimulating effect in accelerating the industry's progress in this important field. Thus is progress broadened. In a more highly refined and somewhat simplified form the Hydra-Matic drive will be continued in the 1941 line. You certainly will be intrigued when you see and try this interesting mechanism.

But the modern motor car has become more than something in which to go from place to place. For many it is something to live with. Hence more comfort, more luxury of appointment and increased roominess characterize the new designs. General Motors 1941 cars are larger. The seats are wider. Thus there is more room for both passengers and baggage. The concealment of running boards inside the body is another innovation. The appointments are more luxurious. These should be important considerations in determining the motor car you will drive in 1941.

Nor is that all! The "Torpedo" type—the body sensation of 1940—has been continued with even greater appeal. And there has been added another body creation—the aerodynamic type. Everyone should see and try it!

General Motors hopes that when you have seen and become acquainted with these 1941 motor cars you will be as enthusiastic about them as we are. And that you will get as great a thrill out of their interesting features, their performance, attractiveness, serviceability and utility as we have in their creation and in presenting them to you at this time.

Stassen Names Writer to Senate

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 14 (AP)—Joseph H. Ball, 34-year-old political reporter for the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, morning and evening newspapers, was appointed today by Governor Harold Stassen to the United States Senate in succession to the late Senator Ernest Lundeen.

Ball is a Republican. Senator Lundeen was a Farmer-Laborite and the Republicans thus gain another seat in the Upper House. Minnesota's other Senator, Henrik Shipstead, is a Republican. Lundeen was killed in an air crash near Washington Aug. 31.

The youthfull Ball, a tall lean man with heavy black hair, father of three children and a reporter since 1927, has long been an intimate friend of the governor. He has been reporting politics since 1934.

Nazis, Soviets Mass Armies in Balkans

Chilia had violated Rumanian territorial waters in the last four days.

In Budapest, the mere fact that the Rumanian censor approved the report of the vessels being sunk was interpreted as an indication of the heightening tension.—Editor's Note.

Refugees from Cernauti, chief city of northern Bucovina, reported increased Soviet military activity, asserting Russia had mounted long-range guns at the junction of the Prut and Danube rivers, on the Russian-Rumanian border; had concentrated a large fleet of fast naval craft along both rivers, and was moving great masses of troops toward the frontier.

VAST MILITARY CAMP

They said the whole Cernauti region was being turned into a vast military encampment, that civilians had been ordered out, and that workmen were busy building an immense airport, which the refugees said was for a concentration of 300 fighters and bombers.

The entry of German troops into Rumania brought no evident reaction in Moscow and reports of the massing of Russian troops, guns and ships in Bucovina were not heard in the Russian capital.—Editor's note.

The British, on the verge of a break with Rumania, said plans to remove their nationals from Rumania had been completed and that hundreds would leave tomorrow and Thursday on Black Sea ships.

The British legation announced that Alexander Miller, director of the expropriated Astra-Roman Oil Co., had been released by Rumanian police and cleared of suspicion of attempted sabotage. Five other Britons, however, remained in custody.

Soviet Ultimatum To Rumania

LONDON, Oct. 14 (INS)—With complete severence of Anglo-Rumanian relations expected within a few days, the London Daily Telegraph said today that Soviet Russia reportedly served an ultimatum on German-controlled Rumania over recent frontier incidents.

The dispatch, sent by the Telegraph's Balkan correspondent and based on advices from Athens, said Moscow also threatened to send the Red army marching into the Rumanian province of Moldavia.

Balkan circles took the ultimatum report "with skepticism," the Telegraph said, but added that Russo-Rumanian armed clashes appeared to have occurred and that Soviet naval monitors had sunk two Rumanian naval patrol boats at the mouth of the Danube.

Fire at Britons' Balkan Homes

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 14 (AP)—Several hundred pistol shots were fired by demonstrators last night at the homes of British residents and of British military and naval attaches in Bucharest, according to reports published here today. One window was said to have been broken but no one was injured.

The Belgrade newspaper Politika reported that the British telephoned police who were quoted as saying the shots were fired by Iron Guardists from a neighboring villa at suspicious characters.

The villa was said to have been the property of Mme. Magda Lupescu, who left Rumania with former King Carol.

U. S. Cruiser Visits Dakar Neighbor Port

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The United States cruiser Omaha has paid a visit to Liberia, neighbor of the strategically important French port of Dakar, in West Africa. An announcement from the navy today said the "courtesy visit" was made on Oct. 9.

Officials said the Omaha was returning to American waters as the result of the abolition of the European squadron previously stationed at Lisbon, Portugal.

85 Wedding Guests Flee Maine Blaze

MAPLETON, Me., Oct. 14—A wedding party was ended abruptly when the home of the bride's parents went up in flames and sent 85 guests out windows and doors, to safety.

The party was for June Randall, 18, and Thomas Boyce, 27, of Ashland. Fire damage was estimated at $1500.

HURT—Struck by a Nazi bomb splinter, this elderly London woman is assisted to ambulance after being given first aid treatment.

Fear Heaviest Toll In Raid on England

ernment communique said "it is feared that the number of persons killed and injured is somewhat larger than during recent night attacks."

At least 15 persons were believed killed and 20 injured when big bombs exploded squarely upon two air raid shelters where families sought safety in two northeastern towns.

The communique, not estimating the total toll there, said only that "there were a number of casualties, some of them fatal."

LIVERPOOL HIT

Uncounted other casualties were caused when bombs smashed a tenement block in Liverpool.

Fatalities in Merseyside communities near Liverpool was reported to have been relatively small.

In Liverpool and surrounding towns, in the northeast and in London, industrial premises as well as dwellings were damaged. The raiders, striking in groups of four and five planes, swept over some sections at 10-minute intervals.

The British public was asked yesterday to give more money to meet the expenses of the "costliest war in human history."

Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio, broadcast an appeal for war loan subscriptions of £750,000,000 ($4,311,000,000) by Nov. 21. That is the amount needed to reach the original goal of £175,000,000 ($1,000,000,000).

SHELTERS SMASHED

Four blocks of flats in one London area were struck by two bombs early this morning.

One hit a shelter, killing two persons and injuring a number of others.

A boy was killed and four persons were injured seriously when explosions demolished two cottages in southeast England.

A new type of "parachute" with small high explosive bombs instead of mines was believed to have been dropped by a night raider in one outlying London district.

Residents said 15 bombs exploded in less than a minute, causing slight damage to some houses.

ENVOY KIRK FLYING HOME

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 14 (AP)—Alexander C. Kirk, United States charge d'affaires in Berlin for a year and a half, arrived by air today en route to Washington.

U. S., Mexican Pact Forecast

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14 (AP)—Mexico and the United States "in all probability" will negotiate a mutual defense agreement similar to the U. S.-Canadian accord about Jan. 1, responsible Mexican sources said today.

No definite understanding was expected until after the U. S. Presidential election next month and until Mexico's new President, Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, assumes office Dec. 1. Thus far only exploratory conversations have taken place, these sources said, but an "atmosphere is being created steadily whereby Mexican and American people will welcome such a pact."

This was attributed to the U. S. western hemisphere defense policy and the progress of the European war.

Nazis Off Gibraltar Sink British Ship

BERLIN, Oct. 14 (AP)—A long-range German bomber has carried the air raid assault into the area of Britain's Gibraltar stronghold, destroying an armed merchant ship west of Cadiz, Spain, the high command reported today.

The "armed enemy merchant ship, between 3000 and 4000 tons," was blasted by two bomb hits in an attack in the "sea region west of Cadiz," said the communique.

Yesterday 13 British planes were destroyed, said the daily war statement, while only one German chaser failed to return.

HUGE FIRES SET

Meantime, German bombs set such huge fires near London's Victoria and India docks last night that they could be seen from the mouth of the Thames river, 40 miles to the east, the high command declared.

The report minimized the effect of British raids on Reich territory, relating that little damage resulted in north and west Germany from "bombs planlessly dropped" which hit no military or industrial objectives.

All through yesterday and last night, the war directorate reported, light and heavy fighting plane units as well as squadrons protected by chaser units raided Britain so repeatedly that "only short pauses" ensued between the attacks.

Clouds of smoke rolled skyward after an assault on a power plant, said the communique.

SAY BARRACKS DESTROYED

In one "especially audacious dive attack," it reported, a fighting plane which had no bombs left machine-gunned a convoy of 13 merchantmen, setting the stern of one ship afire.

Heavy explosions were reported in other objectives. Two British Army barracks were reported destroyed.

Informed sources said German fliers dropped some 771,000 pounds of explosives on London, Liverpool and southern and central England in 24 hours.

The British in the same period were said to have unloaded only about 13,000 to 17,500 pounds of explosives and incendiary bombs on Germany.

New Nazi Bomb Goering Basket

LONDON, Oct. 14 (INS)—A new type of German bomb—already dubbed the "Goering basket"—was dropped on London during recent air raids, the London Daily Express reported today.

The new weapon scatters from 16 to 20 high explosive bombs in the same manner that the "Molotoff bread-basket" hurls out incendiary bombs.

Roof-top watchers said the "Goering basket" bursts in the air with a dull red flash and throws the cluster of bombs over a wide area.

AIR FORTS DEAL GAINS SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (INS)—Recurring reports that a number of the Army's famous Boeing "flying fortresses" would be transferred to Britain circulated in Washington today.

Congressional sentiment on the whole appeared favorable toward the bomber deal, which is said to be "all set" and awaiting only approval by the President.

Rep. May (D.), Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, was most forthright in his advocacy of the bomber deal, saying he would make as many as 20 of the long-range fighting ships available to the British, who doubtless would use them to carry aerial bombing deeper into Germany.

Opponents of the transaction were led by Sen. Clark (D.) of Missouri who declared this country needs all the bombers it possesses for its own defense.

The bombers believed to be involved are the B-17-B's, second model in a series of three. These ships are somewht slower and less mightily armed than the subsequent Boeing the B-17-D, but nevertheless are believed to hold all-round superiority over any bombers now engaged in the European conflict.

32 DIE ON TURKISH SHIP

BUDAPEST, Oct. 14 (INS)—Thirty-two passengers drowned today when a Turkish sailing vessel sank in a gale off Kirezum. The captain of the ship was rescued and arrested.

RAF Spreads Havoc, 3000 Nazi Troops Die

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—British bombers, defying bad weather, last night attacked Germany's Kiel and Wilhemshaven naval bases, oil plants, the Krupp works at Essen and German airdromes, and also carried out "the nightly offensive" against channel ports, the air ministry announced today.

The new attacks followed Royal Air Force operations in which the British credited their fliers with sinking two Nazi transports and killing "over 3000" German troops.

Britons were told the RAF's widening raids with heavier bombs are hammering home to the German people that their air force and air defense afford no immunity from the same horrors of death and destruction that have been visited on England.

BOMBS DROP IN BERLIN

Statements by the admiralty and ministries of air and information claimed that British forays started Saturday night hit 40 or more objectives from Norway south into France and east beyond Berlin.

Bombs dropped into the heart of Berlin for more than an hour were said by the ministry of information to have "badly shaken" public morale in the capital.

And that raid, the ministry added, was only a "small part" of the week-end campaign of destruction.

The heaviest bombs yet used against Germany were said to have been dropped on the big Krupp arms works in a two-hour attack at Essen. Repeated direct hits on the armament manufacturing buildings were claimed.

The ministry did not disclose when the troop-carrying ships were sunk off Lorient, one of the ports Britons have been told the Germans have made ready as invasion bases. The ships apparently were bombed at night.

FLUSHING HARBOR HIT

A further bulletin from the Air Ministry declared that a series of exceedingly heavy explosions resulted from an attack on Flushing harbor last night by a coastal command of Blenheim aircraft.

The main line railway junction at the Mole was one of the chief targets and, following a major explosion, a series of fierce fires was caused where the bombs fell.

Other Blenheims carried out an attack over Domburg harbor, northwest of Flushing and across the Mole at Zeebrugge.

Other ports along a 200-mile stretch of French and Belgian coasts from Le Havre past Dunkirk were attacked Saturday and Sunday nights, as they have been almost nightly for weeks.

Three Swastika-marked ships of 2000 to 3000 tons each were said to have been attacked off the coast of Norway.

Defense Orders Up to Schedule

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (INS)—Two-thirds of the national defense program is completed, as far as orders are concerned, William S Knudsen, a member of the defense advisory commission, declared in an interview today.

At the same time Knudsen spiked reports that the draft might be delayed because of shortages in equipment shortage.

"We are progressing according to schedule to complete by April, 1942, equipment for an army of 1,200,0000," Knudsen said. "In addition we will have equipment for another 800,000 men."

He was asked if the defense program could be speeded. "I don't know what we could do until we try," he replied.

GANDHI'S PLAN BACKED

Nazi Bombs Kill Mayor, Family

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Working by moonlight, rescue squads early today recovered the bodies of the mayor of an East Anglian town, his wife, eldest son, and a granddaughter from the bomb-heaped ruins of their home.

Another grandchild rescued from the wreckage died later and a search continued for a servant girl believed still buried.

BRITISH END SEA FLIGHTS

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The British Transatlantic Civil Air Service, maintained by [illegible] flying boats Clyde and Clare, has ended for the season, it was said today.

1325 Flying Cadets Are Accepted Here

Mentally and physically O. K. for the U. S. Army Air Corps, 25 Flying Cadets were inducted at the local recruiting headquarters today and immediately hustled off to the Chicago School of Aeronautics, Glenview, Ill.

Largest single group assigned from Eastern Massachusetts this year, the cadets were sworn in promptly at 9.30 a. m. by 2d Lt. John L. Ryan, Jr., Fourth Recruiting District, and turned over to Lt. Col. Conrad Skladal for brief instructions.

The recruits, having survived the rigid mental and physical examinations here, will be subject to intensive flying tests at Glenview, a privately operated school, to discover if they have aptitude for final training at Randolph Field, Texas.

Those inducted today were:

George E. Akerson of Wellesley Hills; Carlton A. Chamberlain of Boston; Francis E. Coman of Lynn, Richard H. Cotter of Roxbury, William L. Dwyer, Jr., of Swampscott; Joe H. Giltner, Jr., of Hingham; Walter H. Grady of West Roxbury; Thomas W. Hall of Boston; Allen A. Hall of Chelsea; Charles F. Jennings of Arlington; Joseph L. Keegan of Medford; Robert E. Kirkaldy of Dorchester; Edwin J. Lanigan of Belmont; Leon E. Lincoln, Jr., of Taunton; George M. MacFarlane of Boston; William R. Maher, Jr., of Cambridge.

James J. Mahoney of Newton Upper Falls; Edward J. McPherson of Milton; John R. Murphy of Arlington; Malcolm Nash of Abington; George W. Ramey of Needham; Michael W. Sullivan of Pinehurst; Charles A. Tracy, Jr., of Lexington; Edward E. Turner, Jr., of Pembroke and John J. Welland of Boston.

A few minutes after Lt. Ryan had administered the enlistment oath to each man, which included rejection of the Christian Front and Communist parties by name, he said, with a grin:

"We have cards you can mail to your friends who might be available for this service. Postage will be paid by the government. Kindly do not use the cards for messages to girl friends."

Each man was allowed $1 a day for meals en route to Glenview, the Army paying for transportation.

2 Youths Held In Attack Case

Salem police inspectors were in Concord court today with warrants charging criminal attack and armed robbery of one girl as two young men pleaded guilty to attempted attack on another.

The prisoners, Lawrence Reagan, 25, of Langdon st., and Gerald Ouelette, 18, of Boston st., both Salem, were held in $10,000 each and committed to East Cambridge jail to await grand jury action.

Their pleas of guilty were made to charges of a Maynard girl, whose name was withheld. She said she had battled off the pair in Sumner Hill rd., Maynard.

Salem police charged that Reagan and Ouelette are the bandits who kidnaped Miss Blanche Dodge, 25, and her escort, Lincoln Chinchillo of Revere, a week ago Sunday night.

SHOPPING WITH

Dearest Anne,

This is ideal shopping weather so why don't you take advantage of it while it lasts? You'll find many, many new things in the Boston shops that you simply MUST have—and at such moderate prices, too. Here's the first:

Hand Sewn "Loafers" At Clyde's, $3

That popular "Loafer" at only $3 is indeed NEWS! When they're antiqued — that's a SCOOP! But when they're also hand sewn — that's SOMETHING! So dash right in to Clyde's—all you bright young things, for "Loafers"—they're SO comfortable and SO good to look at. CLYDE'S SHOE STORE is at 455 Washington St. Mail orders 15c extra.

Elizabeth Sparkes Electric Needle Specialist

You'll be impressed with the expertness of Miss Sparkes who so skillfully removes superfluous hair that not even the slightest mark is shown. Each hair is removed by the roots so that it can never return. Miss Sparkes has the new Chaleur Method, based upon scientific experiment and achievement. Her 40 to 100 needle machine, if preferred. Physicians' references, 25 years' experience. Free consultation. MISS ELIZABETH SPARKES, 120 Tremont St., Rm. 333. Han. 7592.

Fur Coats Remodeled, $17.50, Lining Included

By Jacques — that expert furrier. He will remodel your old fur coat into the latest 1941 fashions — you'll really be amazed! And just think, he will make you a fur cape, from your old furs, for only $7.50 and this includes the lining. Or if you prefer a beautiful fur Jacket — with the new flattering lines—it's only $12.50 (lining included). Additional skins extra. JACQUES FUR SHOP, 177 Tremont St., HUB 5759. He will gladly call at your home.

A Filene Permanent Wave for $7.50 In Their Famous Beauty Balcony

Imagine being able to get a permanent wave at Filene's for only $7.50—you've probably thought about going to their famous Beauty Balcony for a long while but hesitated because you never knew you could have one for $7.50. Think of it—costs no more than an ordinary wave! This also includes a shampoo and wave plus a completely new coiffure created expressly for you. Naturally because it's at Filene's it has to conform with their very strict standards that is your guarantee of quality plus. They'll be happy to analyze your hair and advise you without charge. The $7.50 permanent is available in the Boston store or at Filene's in Wellesley. Other Filene permanents are available in prices ranging from $7.50 up. End Permanents, including shampoo and wave, $5 upwards. No tipping, you know, in Filene's Beauty Balcony. Phone Hancock 3800 if you wish an appointment.

Your Home Will Look Brighter With These Colorful Framed Pictures at Grants, 19c

Just wait until you hang these pictures in your happy home—you'll find that they're just the thing for that dark corner or that bare-looking wall. They'll brighten that room considerably. And such gay, colorful subjects—in floral, kiddy, ship scenes and SO many others. All are framed, too, in ivory, gold or maple finish. They're only 19c but once you see them I'm sure that you'll agree that they look much more expensive. See them at the Art Dept. on the main floor at W. T. GRANT COMPANY, 395 Washington St., Boston.

Fur Coats Restyled—Lining Included, $17.50 2-Year Service Guarantee at Winters'

You won't believe it—until you see it! I mean the way your old fur coat will look when Winters' Fur Shop gets through restyling it. It's just like getting a brand new coat for only $17.50—you'll simply be amazed at the WONDERS they work. These expert furriers besides remodeling your coat into a distinctive 1941 Fur fashion also give you a 2-year service guarantee and of course you know how important that really is. Chubbies, $12.50. Capes, $7.50. Extra skins additional. They will gladly call at your home. WINTERS' FUR SHOP, LIBerty 1921, 8 Winter St., 4th floor, Boston. OPEN EVENINGS TILL 8:30.

Roux Oil Shampoo Tint Changes "Gray" to "Gay"

Dull, lack-lustre or gray hair becomes bright, colorful gay hair at the touch of ROUX OIL SHAMPOO TINT. In YVONNE'S wonder-working hands, this grand oil shampoo tint gives you glorious new lustre, color, beauty . . . and never a hint of obviously bleached or dyed look to the tinted growths. "It tints as it washes." YVONNE offers this tint for home treatment, $1.10 and $1.65, 22 glorious shades. Send strands of hair for color. YVONNE also works wonders with ROUX OIL BLEACH at her Salon, or send 75c for home treatment. Why not come in today and have a preliminary test. Free consultations. YVONNE'S BEAUTY STUDIO, 127 Tremont Street (opposite Park St.) HUBbard 0846. Open 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

PRISCILLA PRICE

You'll Simply Fall in Love With These

Florence Walsh Dickeys at Jordan's for $1

If you know anything about Dickeys then you'll know that the Florence Walsh Dickey is the kind that does not ride up—the full length back prevents this uncomfortable riding-up. They're of fine quality rayon sharkskin that irons in a whish or two because it lies flat. And that little girl collar that just simply places an accent on your youth. Wear them anytime and all time—under your jacket or dress. You'll certainly want more than one because they're only $1. Comes in White, Sky Blue, Maize or Pink, in small medium or large. If you like you may have them with three monograms for $1.19. Neckwear Dept., Street Floor—main store at JORDAN MARSH CO. Mail orders or phone Hubbard 2700 'til 10 P. M. except Sunday.

You'll Love Harry's

3 Inch Cut Permanents

9 A. M. $4.00 POMPADOUR STYLES

If you like waves easy to care for, appreciate expert hair cutting and restyling, Harry is a well known authority on permanent waves. His LANOLIN OIL or machineless permanents are beneficial to the hair and cost but $5 complete with new hair dress and cut. End permanents $3. Harry's New Line cut, shampoo and wave $1. HARRY'S BEAUTY SHOP 1-3 Washington St., Dexter Bldg., Rm. 817. Dev. 8017. Open eves. Either with or without appointment.

You Must See L. Max, Jr., for the Four

New Shades of Roux Oil Shampoo Tint

Roux Oil Shampoo Tint announces the addition of four New Ultra Colors—an entirely new conception of hair coloring tones, brighter, lighter, more brilliant than the standard shades. But words alone cannot bring you the dramatic effect of this new development in hair coloring progress—you must actually see these new "Roulite" shades. Home treatment bottles, $1.10 and $1.65 for a bottle TWICE as large. In 22 glorious shades. Roux Oil Bleach, also easy to use at home, only 75c for generous size bottle. Send a strand of your hair for color when ordering by mail to L. Max, Jr., "That gifted son of a Famous Father," 145 Tremont Street. Devonshire 7069.

Ceil R. Shulman Removes Hair, $1

It's a simple matter to have hair on your face, arms and legs removed painlessly. Ceil R. Shulman, one of the most careful, fastest multiple needle experts in Boston, will remove hair from your face, painlessly and forever. Many years' experience. Guaranteed cure. Physicians' ref. Teaching electrolysis. Free advice from Mon. to Fri. $1 treatment. 8 Winter St., Rm. 1005. HUB. 5229.

And Here's A Value!

A Saxony Rug For $35

Because it's been shampooed and sanitized by the Armory Rug Co., you'd hardly know it had been used. When new it sold for $145 so it's easy to see that it's a GREAT value at only $35. They also have thousands of other rug bargains with savings as high as 75% in the finest Domestic and Orientals. Better hurry in to the world's largest distributors of used rugs. ARMORY CO., 903 Boylston St., near Mass. Station. Open daily 'til 6 and Mon., Wed and Sat., 'til 9 P. M.

And Now—The Body Made Beautiful for Only $1

At the Alquist Reconditioning Salon

You'll simply be thrilled to hear all about this new reconditioning salon I discovered for you. Imagine getting a regular body beautiful treatment for only $1. This includes a shower, Scotch hose vibrator, 30 minutes of massage, and an alcohol rub, by graduate masseuse. If you are used to paying more for this treatment then you will be happy to know that you can save SO much and still get as good if not a better treatment at the ALQUIST RECONDITIONING SALON. The lowest priced "SLIMatorium" in the city. Controlled Therma Ray Heat 50c extra and individual exercise if desired. The Alquist Reconditioning Salon is at 177 Tremont St., next to Tremont Theatre. Call Devonshire 7959, open evenings.

Miss Roche, Electric Needle Specialist

Miss Roche, who uses one to forty needles, specializes in multiple needle ELECTROLYSIS with amazing results. This method is a safe and permanent way of banishing the growth of superfluous hair forever. Her prices are moderate and there is no charge for consultation. Physicians' references. Miss Roche is a member of the Electrolysis Ass'n of America. MISS ROCHE, 26 West St., Suite 309. DEV. 9418.

THE VILLAIN and the heroine. Murray Modick and Ella Gerber in "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl or It's Better With a Union Man," new edition of Labor Stage's "Pins and Needles," which opens a two-week engagement tonight at the Plymouth.

Bathtub Introduces Star

Even the best theatrical circles are beginning to admit that the bath-tub is here to stay. This useful but theatrically neglected piece of furniture has found a niche for itself at stage center in Margery Sharp's new comedy, 'Lady in Waiting," which tonight begins its second and final week at the Wilbur Theater.

Gladys George is the attractive occupant of the tub in "Lady in Waiting."

PREMIERES AT COPLEY, PLYMOUTH

Tonight's openings are "Return Engageme nt," Laurence Riley's new comedy, with Bert Lytell, Mady Christians, Audrey Christie and L eona Powers, at the Copley, and "New Pins and Needles," the Labot Stage musical revue, at the Plymouth.

"Return Engagement" will be the second presentation of Copley Productions under the management of W. Horace Schmidlapp and Joseph M. Gaites. If Boston likes it, the play will open in New York after two weeks here.

Included in its supporting cast are Hugh Cameron, Essex Dane, Augusta Dabney, Tom Coley, Caryl Smith, Bill Leicester, Warren Clarke, Alexander Nicoll, Ruth Lott, Peter Garey and Diana de Brette. Rowland Leigh staged the production and Johannes Larsen designed the setting.

"New Pins and Needles" is a new show as compared with the "Pins and Needles" which went on the road in 1938. Only "Sunday in the Park" remains from the old edition.

Music and lyrics for "New Pins and Needles" were provided by Harold J. Rome.

Week's Playbills

OPENING TONIGHT

COPLEY—"RETURN ENGAGEMENT," Laurence Riley's new comedy starring Bert Lytell, Mady Christians, Audrey Christie and Leona Powers. Rowland Leigh directing.

PLYMOUTH — "PINS AND NEEDLES," new edition of the Labor Stage musical comedy with all numbers new but one and with orignal cast of New York garment workers headed by Harry Clarke, Millie Weitz, Bernl Gould, Ella Gerber and Dorothy Harrison.

CONTINUING

SHUBERT—"PANAMA HATTIE," Ethel Merman starring B. G. DeSylva musical, the book of which DeSylva wrote in collaboration with Herbert Fields. Cole Porter did the music and lyrics. Importantly featured are Hollywood's Arthur Treacher, James Dunn, Joan Carroll and Phyllis Brooks, burlesque's Rags Ragland, Club 15's Pat Harrington and Frank Hyers and there is a supporting cast of 100. Second week.

CIVIC REPERTORY—"LIFE WITH FATHER," the Oscar Serlin production adapted from Clarence Day's witty sketches by Russel Crouse and Howard Lindsay with Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern playing the celebrated "Mother" and "Father" Day roles. Third week.

WILBUR—"LADY IN WAITING," amusing comedy adapted from the novel, "The Nutmeg Tree," by Margery Sharp, its author, starring Gladys George and Alan Napier. Second and final week.

IN PROSPECT

OCT. 21 "TWELFTH NIGHT," with the Theater Guild and Gilbert Miller presenting Maurice Evans and Helen Hayes in William Shakespeare's famous comedy, comes to the Colonial Theater.

OCT. 24—"NIGHT OF LOVE," new musical play fashioned from Lily Hatvany's play, "Tonight or Never," with Marguerite Namara, John Lodge and Marjorie Gainsworth heading the cast, due at the Shubert.

OCT. 24 — "WHITE-HAIRED BOY," new comedy by Beatrice Kaufman and Charles Martin and rumored to be a burlesque of William Saroyan and other self-confident playwrights, booked for the Plymouth.

NOV. 4—"LADIES IN RETIREMENT," with the original New York cast headed by Flora Robson, Isobel Elsom, Estelle Winwood and Patrick O'Moore, is to follow Kaufman-Martin comedy into the Plymouth.

Leigh-Olivier Film On Tremont's Bill

Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier in "Twenty-One Days Together" and Errol Flynn and Olivia DeHavilland in "Robin Hood" share the Tremont screen this Wednesday.

"FATHER" DAY, scanning "Mother" Day's monthly bills, is about to unleash one of those candelier-rocking temperamental outbursts that make "Life With Father" one of the season's choicest theatrical treats. Louis Calhern and Dorothy Gish play these real-life characters in the comedy hit at the Civic Repertory Theater.

AUDREY CHRISTIE and Bert Lytell are the co-stars of "Return Engagement," new comedy by Laurence Riley, who wrote "Personal Appearance." It opens tonight at the Copley.

Young to Tell Of Jap Crisis

Acclaimed here and in the Far East as a competent, impartial observer, James R. Young, for 10 years International News Service bureau head in Tokyo, will be chief speaker tomorrow at the Hearst Round Table luncheon at the Statler.

Young recently left Japan after he had been imprisoned 61 days in an unheated Tokyo cell by Japanese authorities for writing an account of Chino-Japanese relations.

Rated as one of the best American foreign correspondents Young will talk on modern Japan and answer queries regarding the present crisis between Japan and the United States.

sor and at the request of Vice-President Marshall she went to Washington to work for the government translating documents. My oldest brother, Robert, father of a family, gave up his position, enlisted and served throughout the war.

"My next brother, a chemist, gave much of his time to government experiments. I came next and I enlisted and served throughout the war. My youngest brother and my other sister were engaged in government work.

"Those are personal experiences.

"I pray that we never shall be involved in war. Men against modern machines are as nothing and this country is not prepared."

Concerning national defense, Willkie offered what he termed "two constructive suggestions" for speeding up of the defense program. He said:

"I suggest first that the delay in reaching an agreement upon the type of plane or tank which is to be manufactured should be eliminated," he said. "As President I would compel a prompt decision and not permit the perfectionists to postpone.

"I want also to tell you in the second place, that as President I will be absolutely relentless regarding those firms who are said to be jockeying around for bids and thereby delaying the progress of the defense program in order to make a slightly larger profit."

placed by the Democratic high command on the shoulders of Charles P. Ray, a volunteer worker in the colored division of the Democratic national committee. Ray has been fired.

The circular, made public on Saturday, had caused a sensation and it was evident that Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, and his close advisers, were perturbed about the incident.

Flynn repudiated the circular, saying no one in authority had authorized its issuance "officially." Flynn said there was no question about Willkie's 100 per cent Americanism.

Flynn, at his press conference today, announced he had "gotten to the bottom of the incident."

"I have discovered," said Flynn, "that the only circulation of the circular was by the Republican newspapers.

"As far as I have been able to ascertain, only a single copy went out from the colored division and that was obtained by a newspaper reporter who picked it up himself.

"The matter, like a great deal of other material, was awaiting the visa of the responsible people connected with the Democratic national committee and represented only the idea of a volunteer. Of course, it would never have been issued."

Stassen Flays Slur at State

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 14 (AP) — Gov. Harold E. Stassen, in a telegram to Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, demanded an apology today to the state of Minnesota "for slurs upon the patriotism of the people . . ."

The Governor charged that in a pamphlet "on your Negro division," Minnesota is referred to as the "German state of the Union."

"The people of Minnesota, in their ancestry, are sons and daughters of every nation in the world and they are loyal and patriotic citizens who love the United States and will defend it against all dangers," Stassen said in his telegram.

He referred to the military service of Minnesota men in the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars and added:

"We practice tolerance and the rights of all minorities are respected."

NATIONAL WINE WEEK
OCTOBER 13-20
With your dinner tonight drink Wine
• In honor of National Wine Week, special selections of wine are offered by wine retailers today. Check up on your own home wine cellar. Or if you don't now serve wine, make this the occasion to find out why wine-serving is so popular.
Discover how red Claret or pale gold Chablis turns even the simple meal into a feast. And try serving Sherry at appetizer time. Or a sweet dessert wine like Port or Muscatel in the evening. You'll be amazed to find how many of your guests prefer a moderate beverage.
TIPS ON SERVING WINE
TABLE WINES go best with meals. They are made "dry" (not sweet) to complement food. Try tart, red Burgundy or Claret; delicate, golden Sauterne or Chablis (well chilled)...in servings half water glass size.
SWEET WINES go best with refreshments and desserts. They are made rich with the natural sweetness of the grape. Try red Port or golden Muscatel. Serve either in a small glass.
AN APPETIZER WINE like Sherry is best before dinner. Sherry is amber, mellow in flavor. This good wine is usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

F. D.'s RECORD ON AVIATION!

By HARRY F. GUGGENHEIM

(For 10 years a member of the National Advisory Commission on Aeronautics)

(Provided by the Republican National Committee)

The Number One issue in this country today is America's air defense.

This is as plain as the newspaper headlines concerning the war in Europe—headlines that daily tell of threats to our peace and our security.

It is a problem that has been before us for years—and today we are more vulnerable from the air than ever before.

WHY?

Here is the record.

In 1933 Hitler came to power in Germany.

In that same year Franklin D. Roosevelt refused to renew appointments of Under Secretaries in Charge of Air in the Army and Navy. These offices are still vacant.

In 1935 Italy conquered Ethiopia, largely from the air.

In the same year Congress passed the Wilcox bill, authorizing air defenses along this nation's widespread frontiers. Mr. Roosevelt neglected to ask the Congress for the necessary funds to carry out the recommended program.

In 1936, Germany and Italy took their fighting planes to Spain for a dress rehearsal of what was to come.

In that same year Mr. Roosevelt was informed that the United States Army Air Corps had 700 fewer planes than it had in 1932. He did nothing about it.

OLD FASHIONED STUFF !!
YOU MAY BE A NEW DEALER BUT YOU'RE NOT MY KIND OF DEMOCRAT
E.D.R.
NO THIRD TERM
STATE'S RIGHTS
BANK OF JEFFERSON
HOST CRAM

In 1938 Hitler seized Austria and Czechoslovakia.

In that same year of 1938 the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the Federal government's air research bureau, reported that the European crisis made patent the overshadowing influence of air power in international affairs; in addition the United States Navy urged immediate action in building up our air defenses.

Mr. Roosevelt ignored the report of the committee, as well as the appeal of the Navy. Instead of building up Navy air defenses he approved a million-and-a-half-dollar reduction in Navy aircraft appropriations.

THEN came 1939. Poland was crushed by Hitler's air power—and Hitler challenged the world.

In that same year, and despite repeated warnings from his own advisors as well as from aviation experts, Franklin D. Roosevelt TOLD CONGRESS THERE WAS NO POINT IN OUR TRYING TO MATCH THE AIR POWER OF CERTAIN OTHER NATIONS.

THAT brings us up to 1940—and more of the same.

In 1940 Germany struck westward, France became a shambles, England a bombers' proving ground.

And in 1940—today—America has just about 500 planes suitable for first line fighting.

Also, in 1940—An election year! Mr. Roosevelt tries to cover his own failures of seven years of talking furiously of 50,000 planes.

The plain truth is we will be fortunate if, by January 1, 1942, we have a total of a few thousand planes suitable for first-line fighting.

Having before him the figures of his own military and naval experts Mr. Roosevelt knows that even this figure is optimistic. Knows it just as well as do aviation people.

By comparison it is not very pleasant to contemplate that Hitler and Mussolini have a combined air force, according to the newspapers of 20,000 war planes.

And, has Franklin D. Roosevelt pledged himself to do the constructive things Wendell Willkie has pledged himself to do—to have a U. S. air force with a secretary in the Cabinet—to take aviation out of politics—to train war-time pilots thoroughly—to build airports that are equipped to meet war-time conditions—to build and build until the day is here when we are no longer vulnerable in the air and subject to attack.

Mr. Roosevelt has pledged himself to do none of these things.

PLAYING POLITICS WITH DYNAMITE

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

This is no time for explosive statements on foreign affairs, or sly innuendo, irresponsible statements, or cleverly concealed charges hidden in the guise of innocent questions. Wendell Willkie apparently thinks otherwise.

DOROTHY THOMPSON

War shadows grow longer across the world. Dictators are on the march. Treaties are denounced as scraps of paper, and the rule of blood and iron supplants the reign of law and international agreement. People are puzzled and worried as the tension grows.

It should be borne in mind that President Roosevelt foresaw the decay of normal world relations with prophetic vision and moved to prepare the United States in time. Long before others were awake to the danger, he warned his countrymen that the democracies of the world, including our own, would soon be on trial for their very existence. He was ridiculed as an alarmist and a warmonger then. But his critics lived on to embrace the policies which he proclaimed and they denounced.

The Chief Executive preached the simple doctrine that as a measure of self-protection for the safety of the nation, we should extend material aid to the countries of Europe which were holding off the onward thrust of force and violence. The longer that thrust was delayed, the more time this country had to prepare. The heroic defense of Britain against Hitler's raining bombs has demonstrated the wisdom of President Roosevelt's course.

Now the situation in the Orient grows more ugly. The newspapers tell of vague warnings by Japan that she will not tolerate interference with her expansionist program. The American people want peace and they wonder how this situation has come about.

A CONSISTENT FOREIGN POLICY

The first thing to remember is that the foreign policy of the United States is just what it was ten years ago, the same as it was under Coolidge and Hoover. This nation has treaties with Japan, the Nine Power Pact and other agreements. As these treaties are violated, the United States makes known its disapproval. To retain its self-respect, a country must adopt this course. The policy of appeasement, of yielding in the face of threats, has been shown to be weak and meaningless.

Under the wise direction of Secretary of State Hull, the foreign policy of the United States has been consistent and forceful, and its application temperate and moderate. He has expressed the attitude of the country in restrained but vigorous language, and he has pursued the path of peace with equal vigor. By the high conduct of his office, Hull has become one of the great statesmen of the world.

But Wendell Willkie, disturbed by a campaign fast slipping out from under him, has decided to make political capital, if he can, out of the involved and dangerous world situation. He demands to know, without suggesting any evidence to sustain it, if President Roosevelt has private understandings with foreign governments about the war.

"What are the international understandings," he asks, "about America's participation in the incidents of Europe and Asia at the present time?"

This is an old courtroom trick, and Willkie is an old courtroom lawyer. A leading question plants a doubt in the minds of the jurors. The people become vaguely stirred, uneasy, afraid that perhaps something dreadful is being concealed about which they should know. The hidden purpose is to convey the impression without saying so that Roosevelt has helped to bring about the tension, that he flirts with war for his own political advancement.

Of course, Willkie is too clever to make the charge directly. His own utterances about Hitler have been more explosive than anything said by the President, and he has endorsed the Roosevelt policy up to the hilt.

The fact is that the United States Government has no commitments, secret or otherwise. It has pursued a wise, consistent policy in the full light of day. The Administration has taken every possible step to keep war away from America. The Administration was pursuing that course before Willkie awoke to the potential dangers of the international situation.

Miss Dorothy Thompson, a keen student of international affairs, writes a column syndicated by the Republican New York Herald-Tribune. A supporter of Alf Landon in 1936, she recently endorsed Roosevelt for re-election in a brilliant analysis of why the country needs him in the White House. About the charge that the President wants war, she said:

"The President is a man of peace. No one who saw and talked with him, as I did, after the outbreak of the war, and in June, in the midst of the collapse of France, and saw how the war had stricken that naturally insouciant personality, marking his face with suffering, COULD EVER SAY THAT HE IS A WARMONGER.

"The President tried to help world peace, tried to keep it by every possible means, and by the only possible means short of delivering all democracies over to the dictators — the use of the American weight for peace."

Wendell Willkie should read Miss Thompson's column and then blush.

"Don't worry about us, we'll get by," said girls of Jackson College as they were questioned as to how the draft was going to affect them.

So saying, Shirley Bourke, a junior from South Hadley, placed a free on the piano, a tune reminiscent of "Swing Mr. Charlie Rang It" while Rose Abramitis, Preston Junot, Beatrice Smith, Tchesterjamont, and Lil [illegible] West Medford sophomore, supplied words with a [illegible] tone of "who cares?

Beneath the jollity, however, the girls showed a serious side with most of them ready to do their part in the world of men, as the manpower of the nation is to be published on Oct 16.

SET FOR ANYTHING

Many of them said that they expected to be prepared for anything and that if it was a war necessity, they could carry on the work of men.

In the new brick and gold Commons Room just opened at Jackson, the girls were expressing their views [illegible]

"The draft is a fine thing," one said, "I'd rather have a man going into this present world prepared. It would be awful to be threatened and not know how to fight."

Another then admitted that it would be interesting work, but she fathers and sweethearts and brothers [illegible]

"It's not the draft itself," they concluded—"it's the thing it stands for, a war-stricken world."

NOT TO MARRY

With a certain pride, the announcement that not one of the 2 Jackson students had left college to be married either to avoid the draft or in fear that it might take their fiances away a year.

"Most girls here," they said, don't intend to get married until a few years after college. Right now we don't want to look ahead much further. We want our work to be our main interest."

THE American people should carefully weigh Wendell Willkie's remarks on the subject of national defense, so far as it is humanly possible to do so, without consideration of the remarks' political elements.

In his many New England speeches, Mr. Willkie analyzed the present defensive situation of the United States as accurately and honestly as any statesman has so far attempted or dared to do.

ARMY LACKS GUNS, SO SOLDIERS TRAIN WITH GAS PIPE

Does Mr. Roosevelt Expect Men to Fight With Such Weapons?

He recognized the IMMINENCE of war.

But he also recognized our complete UNPREPAREDNESS for war.

We have a pretty good Navy when it is assembled all in one place, but if the Panama Canal should be blocked as it might easily be with the Navy in that one place, we would have one or the other of our great oceans entirely unprotected.

To anyone who pauses to consider the matter, it is terribly apparent that we are late with our Navy, late with enlargement and improvements for the Panama Canal and even worse than late with the Nicaragua Canal, for we have not even started to build it.

We could not put a trained and modernly equipped land force of more than 75,000 men in the field.

In no category of guns, tanks, anti-aircraft weapons or munitions do we have a sufficient supply to conduct war against a powerful nation on today's scale, or especially on a protracted scale.

Moreover, it will take seven years to build a two-ocean Navy and six years to make the Panama Canal adequate for defense.

It will take many months to train an Army, even with an efficient system of peacetime conscription.

It will take several years to build an Air Force comparable to the aerial armadas of the nations we fear.

It will take thirteen months to get the 3750 motors we need, twenty-one months to get the 1400 anti-tank guns we need, thirteen months to get the 2400 tanks we need, twenty-seven months to get the 300 ninety-millimeter anti-aircraft guns we need.

So why, as Mr. Willkie intelligently asks, should we talk so big about war, when we have done so little about preparing for war?

AT THIS MOMENT we could very well, and much more safely and sensibly, get along with less talk and more grim preparation.

We are all agreed we should PEP UP our production for national defense.

Should we not also PIPE DOWN our swashbuckling politicians—at least until we have something better in our hands than broomsticks for guns and beer cans for shells to back up their brave words?

Perhaps there is a disposition to say that these facts about our weakness should not be publicly discussed, lest our potential enemies thus learn about them.

Unfortunately, however, those nations know and have long known ALL about our weakness.

The only people in this wide world still in the dark about American weakness are the AMERICAN people.

If Mr. Willkie, through his addresses in New England and in other parts of the country, has succeeded in bringing some light into our lives about these vital matters, we should at least thank him for it.

Or we might go further and do more. We might elect him as President of the United States, for he knows what is wrong with the nation's defenses and has not spent the last eight years DOING NOTHING ABOUT THE VITAL PROBLEM.

ARE YOU a Sagittarius? So is my girl friend. That's how I happened to take note of an astrological prediction which advised those born Nov. 23-Dec. 21: "Stress the financial side more than the romantic in November. For you, love will always take care of itself." Do you happen to be an Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)? Stars say you are going to get a salary raise in November. Pretty soft for some people. The Capricorns (Dec. 22-Jan. 19th) astrologers say "will be very active in love in November." Perhaps all bachelors should immediately check on their Capricorn telephone numbers. For the Leos, of which I am one, it doesn't look so hot for November. Forecast says: "Things will change from good to bad without notice." A fine state of affairs. Imagine somebody telling me being a Leo was good. Also take what they say about a Sagittarius as above "for you—love will always take care of itself." Does a Leo get a break like that? No, he has to get out and hustle for affection.

AM ASKED to name some advertising songs that became popular hits. How about Budweiser's "A Friend of Mine," "Down Where the Wurzburger Flows," "In My Merry Oldsmobile," "Take Me on a Buick Honeymoon" and "My Spearmint Girl with the Wrigley eyes"? . . . "A Defense of Hollywood Men" is what Claudette Colbert has written. That's noble of her, don't you think? She says: "Hollywood men are not heels, hams, cads, cowards and conceited fools." Certainly Claudette should know. This will teach us to remember that appearances are often deceitful.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT DEFENDS HOLLYWOOD MEN

"They're Not Heels, Hams, Cads and Cowards," She Says

"WHAT TYPE of news story is considered most interesting in each of the large American cities?" asks a client. An interesting query, sir, but we will have to fool around with it awhile. In New York the mysterious murder of a model was once tops but now it is one headed "Married Men Will Not Escape Draft." In Los Angeles it is anything about a movie star or old age pensions. In San Francisco they go for stories about bridges: Harry Bridges and the Golden Gate and Oakland bridges. In Portland, Ore., "Weather Man Says No Rain Tomorrow" is always a front page story. In Detroit "Big Year Predicted for Auto Sales" never fails to hit page one. More of this anon.

FANNY WARD, the actress, still has her schoolgirl figure and complexion though in her seventies. Fanny and Sessue Hayakawa played in one of most sensational of silent films, "The Cheat." This could not be revived as the present day censors couldn't stand for it.

MY DAY

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 14—I forgot to mention on Friday that, on Oct. 11, the 1200 Y. M. C. A.'s throughout the United States celebrated Founder's Day. They continued observing Founder's Week until yesterday. I imagine, in many places, certain observances will be continued even beyond that date.

I hope everywhere the people of the communities will renew their interest in the work which the Y. M. C. A. does for the young men in the neighborhood. The "Y" building has furnished to many a boy his only place of recreation, as well as the only quiet spot where he can read with any comfort or talk with his friends.

The services rendered, however, could be made infinitely more valuable if, in every community, more people would familiarize themselves with the needs of the boys in the communities, see that the "Y" was physically able to meet them, and help the secretaries in charge to plan a program of activities so as to make it worth while.

There never was a time when this service to youth was more needed than it is today.

THE WEATHER was so lovely Friday, I could not bear to stay indoors, so Miss Thompson and I took a long drive in the afternoon. Early Saturday morning we left Hyde Park with some sense of excitement, for Miss Thompson was returning to Washington for a week, and I was taking off in the afternoon by plane for Los Angeles to be gone for a week.

The day in New York city was filled, as usual, but this time with purely personal occupations. Some fittings of winter clothes, the buying of a hat and the inevitable visit to the hairdresser before a trip. Free time is somewhat uncertain on these flying trips, so I always feel the necessary things should be done before I start.

I left at 5:10 from La Guardia field and enjoyed flying westward. I never have become enamored of sleeper planes, though I like flying at night very much. However, I recognize that it is comfortable to lie down even if it is inconvenient to undress and dress on a plane.

One great blessing is that when you are once in bed, you can not be called out by newspaper photographers at the various stops, and so I am often not conscious when we land and take off again.

I love coming into Los Angeles early in the morning and late at night. It is exciting to anticipate meeting one of the children, even though I may wonder how glad he is to meet me at a very early hour, for I arrived at Los Angeles soon after 7 and it takes about an hour to drive to the airport.

Broadway Medley

FANS STILL APPLAUD GEORGE JESSEL

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—George Jessel, currently at Loew's State, is completing his 14th engagement there. "It's nice to know that I still can get a good reception here," Jessel told the audience. "I've been on this stage 14 times before—more than any other actor. Milton Berle, who is closest in number of engagements at this theater, has had six engagements here. Which means, all told, that you've heard my jokes 20 times."

* * *

FOREIGN DISPATCH: Edgar Mowrer, the foreign correspondent, tells this story: When, during the Battle of France, Reynaud's government decided it would be advisable to move from Paris, they selected a city in Brittany—a place considered ideal because many soldiers and the military equipment could be evacuated there. The Countess Helene de Portes, fiancee of Premier Reynaud, objected. "I don't like it there," she stated. "It is so primitive, and the food is simply dreadful" . . . Reynaud's advisers suggested that the decision be made in the morning—an unwise suggestion—for by morning the Countess had persuaded Reynaud and so the French government moved, instead, to Bordeaux.

LUISE RAINER

FOOD DEPT.: Mrs Mowrer, who had accompanied her husband, was surprised by the great interest in good food expressed by the French officials. When the Mowrers went to the front for an inspection trip, the French generals always insisted upon first having dinner . . . When the meal was over, they were all too tired to inspect fortifications . . . "France," said Mrs. Mowrer later, "went down with a napkin under its chin."

* * *

PET DEPT.: At the Pierre Hotel, after the cocktail party in honor of Lady Mendl, a little dog was caught in the revolving door and squealed with pain . . . Its owner picked it up tenderly, nestled it in her arms and sat down on the steps. There she wept in sorrow, a lament which was as convincing as any of the realistic performances which won her two Academy Awards . . . Then Luise Rainer, still nestling the dog, entered a car and drove away.

DRAMA DEPT.: A once-famous playwright attended a party and made some ungracious comments. Arthur Kober heard them, and suggested that he keep quiet . . . "And who are you to censor me?" the playwright demanded . . . "I have a right to" said Kober, "because I knew you before you became a nonentity."

SOCIAL NOTES: Laurence Rockefeller dined Thursday night at the elegant Louis XIV restaurant at Rockefeller Center . . . Two tables away he saw his brother, Winthrop Rockefeller, dining . . . At the table between the Rockefellers was a third diner—Mr. John L. Lewis.

TRAVEL DEPT.: Ten years ago Abel Green went to Berlin and interviewed Ferenc Molnar, Max Reinhardt and Erich Pommer . . . "What do you think of Hollywood?" Abel asked all three. In unison, they chorused: "Hollywood? No" . . . All three now are in America, Reinhardt and Pommer are in Hollywood. Molnar's new play probably will be purchased by the film studios. Thursday Green met Pommer, who is the producer of the new picture. "They Knew What They Wanted," and reminded him of the question he asked, in Berlin, ten years ago . . . "Ask me that same question ten years from now," Pommer stated, "when, if the fates are kind, I shall again be in Berlin."

POLITICS: This is the political story of the week: Sidney Kingsley met Maxwell Anderson, who asked: "For whom are you voting?" . . . "Roosevelt," said Kingsley. "What about you?" . . . "Willkie," said Anderson. There was an embarrassing pause. "I don't believe in arguing about such things," said Kingsley . . . "Neither do I," Anderson agreed—and so they remained friends.

CENSORSHIP DEPT.: Alfred Hitchcock received a cryptic cable from his brother in London. It concerned the undescribed condition of his mother, and a mysterious event which occurred to his brother's shop . . . Hitchcock spent hours trying to decipher its meaning . . . Then came another cable, from his mother. "Shop bombed," it stated, definitely. "I'm moving to country."

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: Here is how, frequently, your round about gets news of coming events . . . Out in Newton, young Francis Hart, son of the manager of the Cape Playhouse at Dennis has his own "little theater"—in the living room of his home . . . A cute little trick named Nancy, who is 14 and unaccountably blithe and gay to be the daughter of the frozen-puss oversigned, is one of young Francis Hart's stock company

THE SHOP-TALK OF THE "HART Juvenile Theater Group" is something we get exclusively—and plentifully, it may be said . . . Well, Joe E. Brown is coming to town in "Elmer The Great," which has been we hear from other sources—quite thoroughly re-written since George M. Cohan and Ring Lardner collaborated on the play in 1927 . . . How do we know?

VARIETY AND THE NEW YORK theatrical columns have mentioned that the show is going in rehearsal and that Joe's character now will resemble that of the great Jerome "Dizzy" Dean . . . (It was in the original, as we remember it, although "Dizzy" wasn't known of then) . . . But nothing was said of a Boston engagement of Mr. Brown in "Elmer" in the New York tidings.

YET WE KNOW A BOSTON booking in is the works . . . How? . . . Why, Mr. Brown has written the Hart stock company that he is going to direct the final rehearsal of whatever play they happen to be doing when he comes to town next month . . . And Joe E. Brown would never disappoint the Hart stock company . . . The merest speculation that he might (—you knew, something unforeseen) won us the doghouse

THE OTHER NEWS COMES FROM a routine source, the author . . . She is clever Kay Kenney, who writes for Sheila Barrett and once wrote for the producer of "America Sings" wrote part of it, in fact . . . Kay is very breezy . . . "Dar-l-ing!" is her greeting. (She doesn't mean it) . . . "I'm going to have a show in Boston . . . AT LAST! . . . Please pass on the good news to Peggy (Doyle), Elliot (Norton), Helen (Eager), and to Mr. Harkins and Elinor (Hughes) and Mr. Howard . . (Note: The parentheses are ours, and they are our drama critics. . . . "I refused to open any place but Boston."

"AFTER ALL why not mix pleasure with business? . . . Am in Easthampton now visiting . . . (We're going to have Lucia Gear . . . Bobby Clark It's a thing called 'Crazy With the Heat' which tried out this summer with Sheila (Barrett), and I am so thrilled with the whole production . . . Am writing with two guys . . . Luther Davis and John Cleveland . . . who are but brilliant . . . and another even more brilliant guy . . . Irvin Graham composer . . . His score is so exciting . . . You know ME . . . never enthusiastic "

"BUT THIS is to be another 'Bandwagon' . . . Please drop me a line, George . . . No one knows where we are. (Note: She neglected to make it even one who knows in spite of the request to drop a line) . . . We're up here working day and night and I got Washburn on publicity—and are opening New York New Year's Day . . . I love you always and it has NOTHING to do with ANYTHING . . . which I think you know." . . . Now I ask you! . . . We thought you might get a kick out of the workings of a playwright's brain—in the dither of creation.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: George Frazier, Harvard's articulate authority on swing music, persuaded one of the record companies to make a platter of Jimmy Cagney reciting "Johnny Got His Gun" . . . Mr. Cagney did the recitation on the air, and it got a tremndous response . . . Arthur Tuohy, for years with Loew's here, has scheduled a series of 16 lectures covering the field of theater management at the University Extension division of the state department of education . . . The Tuohy lectures will be part of the business administration courses.

COOPER MAY STAR IN HEMINGWAY STORY

By Loudla O. Parsons

Gary Cooper

HOLLYWOOD Oct. 14 The asking price for the film rights to Ernest Hemingway's unpublished novel, "For Whom the Bell Tolls," is $150,000. It has been voted the "Book of the Month" already and 200,000 copies on the first printing have been ordered. The Myron Selznick office is handling the sale of the book and, according to Donald Friede and those who have read it, it is even a stronger story than "Farewell to Arms," which Gary Cooper and Helen Hay's made for Paramount.

Gary Cooper at the moment is in Sun Valley, where he has been talking to Hemingway, who is also there about playing the hero in the movie "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Sam Goldwyn hasn't said yes but there is also James Stewart at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer who is right for the part in this interesting novel about the present war

What a fine actor he is, but before everything else he is an Englishman and so great was his desire to help his country that he packed his bags and returned to London the day "Voyage" was completed. Getting Lawson is complicated. HISTORY REPEATS itself in the case of Lon Chaney, Jr. He was under contract to U's [illegible] about five years ago and received $100 a week. He wanted a raise, which was refused. When he left the studio his parting words were: "All right—I'll be back some day at ten times $100." Today young Lon made good his threat. He was signed for U's million dollar serial, "Riders of Death Valley" at $1000 a week Lon Sr. had the same experience When he left Universal he was paid $75 a week and after "The Miracle Man" they paid him $750 a week

The fascinating new contest in which you can win $10,000.00, $2,000.00, $1,000.00 or any other of 100 cash awards totaling $15,000.00.

This is a contest in which you look at an amusingly illustrated question, and then merely CHECK (✓) the correct answer. And, in each case, the correct answer appears among the suggested answers printed below the cartoon.

Note that under each question there appear four suggested answers. After each suggested answer there appears a circle. YOUR JOB IS TO PLACE A CHECK MARK (✓) IN THE CIRCLE WHICH FOLLOWS THE ANSWER YOU CONSIDER CORRECT.

And if you CHECK more answers correctly than anyone else, and submit your entry in accordance with the rules, $10,000.00 is yours as First Prize.

ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS CHECK the right answer!

Check your way to a big prize check!
Start with Check Sheet No. 1 at the right.

In this contest, there are no letters to write—no subscriptions to get! All you have to do is to check the right answers, and then fill in your name and address in the space provided under the Check Sheet, and send in your answers in accordance with the rules. Cut this Check Sheet out of the paper along the dotted line and save it. Tomorrow get Check Sheet No. 2. Continue with subsequent Check Sheets daily in the Record or American.

Each Series Will Be Comprised of Six Check Sheets

When you have Check Sheets Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6—you will have the First Week's series complete. A new series will appear each week during the contest.

Send Ten Cents in Coin With Each Series

To qualify for a prize, the rules require that you remit ten cents (10c) in coin with each weekly series of six Check Sheets. In return for remittances, contestants will receive a fascinating Quiz Booklet at the conclusion of the contest.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American GAME OF CHECK is open to all persons living in the New England States. However, no employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, nor any newspaper dealers and carriers who deliver the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, nor any person acting as a proxy for another, nor any person who has won $500 or more in any contest, may win a prize.

2—Beginning Monday, October 14, 1940, a check sheet will be published each weekday in the Boston American and the Boston Record. Each check sheet will contain three cartoon questions. Four and only four suggested answers will be printed under each cartoon question used in the daily Check Sheets. One and only one of these suggested answers is the correct answer to the question appearing above. The six Check Sheets published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen series. Answers to each week's series of cartoon questions should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, c/o the Boston Record-American Game of Check, P. O. Box 2337. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One hundred prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their answers, achieve the 100 highest scores. A Check Sheet will not be judged as a unit—each and every question will be judged separately. Thus, a contestant will get credit for each question correctly answered. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking questions, and, if necessary, a second, third, or fourth set of tie-breaking questions. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking questions. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking questions, without assistance, in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of Check Sheets with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of Check Sheets and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special quiz booklet created by Harold Hart, author of the famous quiz volume, "Invitation to Fun."

6—Any person, by entering this contest understands that it is a contest of individual effort, and agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record-American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time before or after January 27th, the closing date, for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the establishment of time limitations, the judging of answers, the scoring of answers, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual questions) as may be announced by the officials of the contest. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record-American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prize nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. Not more than one prize will be awarded to members of any one immediate family. The Boston Record-American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American to the contestant.

$1,250.00 for Questions

HELP US PLAN THIS CONTEST

We are paying $25.00 apiece for questions we can use in this new Game of Check. We need at least 50. Look at the questions in Check Sheet No. 1 at the right, and if you can think up one or more questions, please send them in subject to the conditions below. Please remember we are not looking for encyclopedia questions or technical questions. The important thing is that they be interesting, up to date, and lively.

And remember to send in the correct answer to any question you suggest.

— THE CONDITIONS —

(1.) Any reader of the Boston Record or Boston American or Boston Sunday Advertiser may submit any number of questions as material for the Game of Check. $25.00 in cash will be paid for each question accepted. (2.) Questions may be written in longhand or typed, but only one side of the paper should be used. Use separate sheets for each and every question. The name of the sender must appear on each such sheet. Address your questions to "Cash-for-Questions," P. O. Box 2097, Boston Record-American, Boston. (3.) On the day that an accepted question appears on the contest page, the name of the person submitting same will be announced and a check for $25.00 will be mailed on that day to that person. (4.) CYNTHIA AND NANCY BURRAGE enjoy an Indian summer stroll across the spacious lawns of their parents' Ipswich estate. A busy social schedule is ahead for these charming daughters of the Albert C. Burrages. Cynthia will be honored at a dance given by her grandmother next Saturday, and on Nov. 9 she will be maid of honor when Nancy becomes the bride of William B. Chace at a fashionable North Shore wedding.

By BETTY ALDEN

THE CURTAIN rang down on their act in April, yet last season's debs are playing an encore—or return engagement . . .

A new crop of younger starlets now occupies the social stage but just to show that they are not "on the shelf," as the saying goes, the post debs will enjoy a party of their own next Saturday night . . .

Cynthia Burrage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage of Candlewood Farm, Ipswich, will be the guest of honor at this post season deb party . . It will be a dance at the magnificent Manchester home of her grandmother, Mrs. Albert Cameron Burrage, whose orchid balls and dances for her debutante granddaughters have become a tradition in the Burrage family . . .

The late Mr. Burrage, Cynthia's granddad, was a famous orchid fancier and the greenhouses at Seahome still provide quantities of rare and exotic blooms for decorations at family parties . . .

At the ushers' dinner before Saturday evening's dance, Cynthia's guests will include her sister Nancy, whose marriage to William B. Chace will be an outstanding November wedding . . . Also attending the dinner will be Diana Bird, Dorothy Gannett, Rosemary Merrill, Ann Phillips, Sally Reed, Jean Saltonstall, Louise Sargent, Lee Thacher, Mary Hutchins and Margarett McKean, all post debs . . .

Norman Armour, Jr., Charles E. Perkins, Jr., Robert Bacon, Tudor Gardiner, Thomas Gardiner, Grenville Clark, Jr., Oliver Perry, William Boardman, Russell Burrage, Jr., and Thomas Redmond will assist Cameron Burrage, 3d, and Bill Chace, Cynthia's brother and future brother-in-law, in performing the duties of the usher staff . . .

Cynthia attended Beaver Country Day and Madame Boissier's in Paris, and was presented at a large Sunday afternoon tea given by her parents at Candlewood Farm last autumn . . .

Opens Guild's Play Series

Society's enthusiastic first nighters are eagerly anticipating the Theater Guild and American Theater Society's subscription series of plays which opens a new season on Oct. 21 at the Colonial. The opening play will be Twelfth Night, co-starring Helen Hayes and Maurice Evens.

Recent Theater Guild subscribers include Mrs. James P. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Badger, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Bancroft, Mrs. James R. Emmett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dabney, Mrs. Charles J. Jones, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin F. Jaques, Mrs. George W. Perkins, Mrs. Robert Reed Potter, Mrs. William Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Walworth Pierce, Mrs. Neal Rantoul, Mrs. Guy C. Richards, Mrs. Max L. Talbot, Mrs. Gardner Washburn, Mrs. Charles W. Sabine, 3d, Mrs. Carl D. Smith, Mrs. P. Somers Smyth, Mrs. Walter B. Ingalls and many others.

Dorothy West Sails to Wed in Africa

DOROTHY WEST and her mother, Mrs. George Saltonstall West of Chestnut Hill, sailed this week-end for Africa where Dorothy will be married in a couple of weeks to her British army officer fiance, Capt. T. Desmond Butler . . .

The war interfered with the couple's original plans for a fashionable Boston wedding this autumn . . . and war restrictions also prevent announcement of where and when the ceremony will take place . . . Nevertheless it will be in Africa, where the captain is stationed with his troops, and will be attended by members of his family as well as Mrs. West and her sister, Miss Fowler . . .

Dorothy, a cousin of Gov. Saltonstall, met Capt. Butler several years ago while on a fox hunting trip in Ireland . . . She is an accomplished sportswoman and enthusiastic dog fancier, having raised greyhounds at her father's Chestnut Hill kennels for both show dogs and pets . . . She is a member of the Vincent and Chilton clubs . . .

Capt. Butler is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Butler of Somerset, England . . .

Important Suit of Fall

THE IMPORTANT suits for fall, 1940, have this about them: Under the hip-long jacket, a once-piece dress. For awhile, separate skirts and blouses or long-coated ensembles recede to the background of fashion. And the slender, self-sufficient dress with a warm but bulkless short coat is dominatingly chic as well as comfortable and convenient. This chrome-yellow dress of imported wool, with big box pleats below its brown suede belt is featured in the current Harper's Bazaar. Over it, there is a matching jacket with top, pockets and sleeves of sheared beaver—ANNICE BRINK.

RECOMMENDED BY A NEIGHBOR

"When my son was three years old he had intestinal round worms. One of my neighbors recommended Dr. True's Elixir. I gave it to him and I noticed improvement in him in a very short time. I now have four children and always keep a supply of Dr. True's Elixir on hand as we all use it when needed."

Round worms are the most common human parasites. If your child displays irritability, nausea, nervousness, loss of appetite and grinding of teeth in sleep, round worms may be the cause. Dr. True's Elixir has been successfully used for 89 years as an agreeable laxative and round worm expeller.

Cooking

Turn Crumbs Into Feast

By MARTHA LEE

There are lots of things to do with dried bread or cracker crumbs besides throwing them out as a feast to the birds. With a little kitchen magic you can turn the crumbs into a feast for the family. Just add sweetened condensed milk, some nuts or fruit and flavoring to the crumbs and you'll have delicious [illegible] cookies.

They're fun to make for the cookie-maker [illegible] take only a few minutes to prepare. [illegible] they're [illegible] so good that they disappear [illegible] as soon as they're baked. Like [illegible] cookies, they're [illegible] weather [illegible].

CHOCOLATE MACAROONS

2 [illegible] egg white
1 [illegible] sweetened condensed milk
1 [illegible]
1 [illegible] cocoa
1 [illegible]
½ [illegible]

Mix [illegible] cup of vanilla [illegible] Add egg whites and beat until stiff. Drop by teaspoonfuls on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 deg. F.) 15 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan at once. Makes about 3½ dozen.

MARATHON NUT COOKIES

1 1/3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
1 cup finely chopped nut meats
1 1/3 cups dry bread crumbs
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. cinnamon

Thoroughly blend together sweetened condensed milk, finely chopped nut meats, dry bread crumbs, salt and cinnamon. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) 12 minutes, or until brown. Remove from pan at once. Makes about 30.

MOLASSES BROWNIES

1 1/3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
¼ cup molasses
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 cup chopped nut meats

Blend together condensed milk and molasses in heavy pan and cook over low flame 5 minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add [illegible] cracker crumbs and chopped nut meats, blending thoroughly. Spread mixture in pan (8 x 12 inches), lined with wax paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 35 minutes or until brown. Turn from pan and remove paper at once. Cut in 2-inch squares. Makes 24.

COCOANUT STRIPS

Slice day old white bread ¾ inch thick. Trim off crusts. Cut into strips ¾ inch by 2 inches long. Spread strips on all sides with sweetened condensed milk, covering well. Then roll in dry shredded cocoanut broiler. Brown under broiler at low heat, or toast on fork over coals. It will taste like sweet fried cake, cocoanut-frosted.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup sweetened condensed milk
6 tbsp. peanut butter
½ tsp. salt
½ cup dry bread crumbs

Combine condensed milk and peanut butter. Blend thoroughly. Add salt and bread crumbs, mixing well. Drop by spoonfuls onto buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 15 minutes or until brown.

Study at Home for Art Career

CHARTS SHOW DRAWING OF FACE AND FIGURE

When you have a flair for drawing, a will to succeed, your only obstacle to a professional career is lack of training. And nowadays you can do as many successful artists have done—study at home.

With the aid of charts and diagrams you quickly master the rules governing proportions of face and figure, draw with the sure touch you lacked before.

See how easily you sketch the human head with the help of the diagram we've given. In the top diagram the face is pictured front view, divided into five equal parts. Note that the width of the eyes determines the distance between the eyes, also the distance from the outer corner of the eye to the edge of the hair.

The lower diagram shows the face in profile with the distance from the top of the forehead to the eyebrow equalling the distance from eyebrow to tip of nose, also the distance from nose to bottom of chin.

You Can Be Beautiful

Here's a New Throat Cream

By ARLINE GOULD

ITS WORTH more to your throat's loveliness than a necklace of diamonds so fiery they look like a comet . . . a new throat cream, a "revitalize formula" with a content of endocrine secretions . . . and so vital an agent that it is used over another cream instead of directly on the skin.

An individualist if there ever was one is the striking Austrian beauty who has created this throat cream. As you know, Austria was a center of research, where science seriously devoted itself to the problems of beauty, the combating of the years' effect on lovely feminine skins.

It's not at all unexpected then . . . the assurance that this "revitalize formula" has these endocrinal ingredients which are so important a part of advanced scientific thought on skin problems.

It's probable that the beauty aids making use of this discovery can be counted on one hand. The throat cream has as well other ingredients of importance, to combine with the action of the intensely rich, organic substances.

It's extremely heavy, and that's one reason it should be used over a corrective texture cream. Usually, this beauty authority creates an aid which does not necessitate overnight use, but this is one . . . for the good of a flawless looking effect . . . that is recommended for all-night treatment.

If you'd like to learn all about this "revitalize formula" throat cream, brand new and available in one Boston shop only, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, weekdays except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Pattern 9540 may be ordered only in sizes small (32-34), medium (36-38) and large (40-42). Small size, apron A, requires 2½ yards 35-inch fabric and 4¼ yards ruffling; apron B, 2¼ yards 35-inch fabric and 7⅞ yards rickrack.

To get this pattern send 15 cents to Boston Evening American Pattern Department, 212 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y. Ten cents additional will bring you our newest Pattern Book.

No In-Laws

By Alma and Paul Ellerbe

THE ceremony was over, the wedding breakfast had been eaten and all the good-bys said. Alec Baker sat in their new convertible-at-a-touch sport coupe beside his bride, and the miles flowed under their wheels.

The Cast of Characters in "No In-Laws"

ALEC, who spends part if his honeymoon with KIT, his bride, among relatives.
UNCLE NICK, Alec's favorite relative.

"Do you realize, Mrs. Alexander Baker, that after all these years of living in the house with your father's Cousin Sue and trying to keep 'em from poisoning each other's tea, and all these years of my living in the house with two sisters-in-law of my father's and one of my mother's who tried to split me three ways in the matter of raising, you and I are starting off alone—without any in-laws whatever?"

Kit nodded sagely.

"In-laws, if you ask me, are worse than outlaws. Think of the couples we've known who've gone on the rocks on account of 'em! I wonder whoever invented the weird idea that people ought to live together just because they're kin!"

"Somebody's kinsfolks," said Alec wisely, "who didn't have money enough to live separately. Thank goodness, all of 'em in our two families are bedded down for life now.

"I think," he added, "that you are going to like the Grahams."

The Grahams were Alec Baker's cousins and they were on their way to stay with them, but just for a couple of days, and at the end of a fortnight's honeymoon in the mountains.

"I haven't seen Robert now for ever so long, but everybody who knows 'em says that he and Sally, his wife, are tops. I told you, I guess, that they've got two little boys. And Sally's sister, Edith, and Robert's older brother, Roscoe, and Uncle Nick—my Uncle Nick as well as his—live with 'em. There's in-laws for you!

"By the way, now that all the men you ever heard of have stopped kissing you and we've got some of the rice out of our hair and the city traffic's thinned out a little, there's something I've got to tell you—some more luck. Do you remember that heavenly old house we saw down on the estuary? Well, Bill Condon says—he's agent for it—we can have it indefinitely—furnished—for forty a month."

"Alec! How wonderful! Why didn't you tell me?"

"Heard it practically on my way to the altar. You'd like that, wouldn't you?"

"I'd adore it!"

"The Grahams," Kit said when she had met them, slept over it and wakened early at her husband's side in the room of the two little Graham boys, who were off at a boys' camp—"the Grahams are darlings, and the nicest of all of them is Uncle Nick."

A LONELY SOUL

"Look at him," Alec said, and there he was, sitting patiently beside a window in his litle cubicle of a room just across an air space, fully dressed but unexpectant—bored at 7 A. M.—yawning a little—waiting.

"Why, bless his heart. Let's get dressed in a hurry and go to walk with him before breakfast."

"He can't get out. When Sally's brother threw in his lot with the rest of them, there was no place in the apartment to put him but the living room. Uncle Nick's only door opens into it, and brother Roscoe sleeps until eight o'clock, has to—he works late."

While he was shaving Alec said: "Uncle Nick's awfully comfortable here, you know. Sally and Robert are devoted to him. And to hear him talk about the two little boys——"

"Yes," Kit said. "He's crazy about them. Yes, I think he's a very happy old man."

They tried to make him say so later, when the three of them went walking.

"You like the city, don't you, Uncle Nick?" Kit said.

"Well, the city's all right, but most folks seem to come in one of two classes, pavement people and country-roaders, and the truth is, Kit, that I seem to feel a little more at home with dust on my shoes."

Alec slipped his arm through his uncle's on one side and his wife's on the other.

"You should have seen him when Robert and I used to go to stay with him when we were kids! He was a farmer then. Had a lot of pine trees——. Do you remember the pine trees, Uncle Nick?"

"They were my savings account," the old man said. "Any time I wanted anything extra, I'd seel a batch of pine trees to the match company. I thought they'd never give out. Takes quite a while, I guess, to teach a fellow that everything gives out."

"He chuckled. "You know, son, I've often wondered if it wasn't the money from those pine trees, that I had nothing on God's earth to do with raising, that made me fancy myself so highly as a farmer."

"It was not," Alec said. "You were a darn good one."

He turned his big grizzled head toward Kit and smiled philosophically. "It would surprise you how little gardening and tinkering there is to do about that apartment of Robert's and Sally's"

"But he likes it here," Kit repeated stoutly.

"Probably better than anywhere in the world," Alec reassured her—and himself.

"It's lucky," Kit said, "that Sally likes him so much—since she's just an in-law."

"You probably strike up some pleasant acquaintanceships, sitting on these park benches?" Alec suggested when he and Kit took their last walk with his uncle.

"It's a queer thing about a park bench." Uncle Nick's tone was impersonal and informative. "There's nothing pleasanter than to drop down on one if you happen to be passing, but if there's nowhere else for you to go, and you get to be a regular sitter there and you see sitting around you day after day a lot of other regulars—well, it's different. We regular park benchers would rather talk to any other kind of people under the sun than ourselves—anybody, that is, that's still out in the current—if you know what I mean."

Alec knew.

NO IN-LAWS

And suddenly he saw from Kit's eyes that she knew too. "Hold hard!" Kit's eyes said. "Remember: 'No entanglements.' Don't let me down.' Kit's eyes bagged, "just because you are moved."

But her voice didn't say it.

In fact, they both suddnesy stopped talking about Uncle Nick altogether. They stood pat on their platform of No Entanglements, but they stopped talking about it. It hurt too much.

Alec also had another reason. He had had a hard buffeting when he was little at the hands of his three aunts-in-law, but he had loved his parents. They had been dead now for a good many years, during which he had been on his own and without family of any kind.

The presence of old Nicholas Baker, with whom he shared a pas', out of whose eyes his father's eyes looked fleetingly now and then who still knew and kept alive little Alec Baker, a boy who was as gone as the snows of yesteryear everywhere else—the presence of old Nicholas Baker, who loved him sort of regardlessly, as it were, and who wanted him, tied him into the scheme of things in a new way, comforted him with a new sense of continuity, made him long for a child of his own who could know Uncle Nick before the old man passed on.

When he gripped the gnarled strong old hand and told his uncle good-by, sitting at the wheel beside Kit, before he let in the clutch and aid off for the rambling old house on the estuary where there was room for a dozen uncles, young Alec Baker's eyes were full of tears.

He shook them out somehow and was glad Kit hadn't seen them.

They were a talkative couple, the young Alec Bakers. Few, if any, would be the wordless miles the traveled together. They talked now of Sally's inferiority complex and Robert's bossiness, of how, as neatly as they could tell, the Robert Bakers were raising their children, of Sally's sister, Edith, and what a pity it was, etc., of Robert's brother, Roscoe, and why do you suppose he wouldn't, etc., but they didn't talk of Uncle Nick.

"She might at least talk about him", Alec thought. "She might mention him. That wouldn't let her in for anything. I wonder how she'd feel if it was her uncle

And then he was ashamed, and, looking at his wife's eager, happy young face that was like an open book, "I will never be thought, "let anything come between us. Anything! Ever".

There was just a little more honeymooning to be done on the way down. They wanted to go to a little island ten miles off the coast. And still they didn't talk of Uncle Nick.

"She knows exactly how much I owe," Alec thought, "and she's afraid to. I'll just blaze away and be natural talk about him myself and then forget it.

KIT'S SURPRISE

But he couldn't. He couldn't do one or the other . . .

"He could have had this room," he thought in the lovely old house on the estuary. "He could have had a boat down there on the dock like the one I used to fish from in the river that ran by his farm. And—Alec walked to another window—"he could have had a workshop out there in the barn. They don't really want him there at Robert's and Kit and I—"

"Alec!" Kit called. "Aren't you ever coming down to look at the living room?" It's the loveliest in the house."

He stopped short in the doorway. It was the loveliest room in the house. He never forget his view of it in that moment, with Kit standing on one side of the wood fire the maid had built and his uncle on the other.

'Kit wanted to surprise you, son. Seems to me she's doing a lot of taking for granted. Are you sure, now, you want—?"

Kit laughed out loud in her happiness

"Look at him!" she said

And old Nicholas Baker looked. He saw that Alec was sure.

THE END.

Bill Robinson a Hit In Southland Show

By SAM BERENSON

Our posy of the week wings over in the town's skyline, finally to settle in the lapel of Bill Robinson, whose dancing feet have made the new Southland the most important oasis of the fortnight . . . life proverbially begins at 40; but the heels of Brer William twinkle faster at 60 than they did 30 years ago . . . a grand entertainer, a grand personality.

Nice going's-on at Cocoanut Grove with the usual slick offering limelighting the entertainment menu . . . and a further nosegay to Maestro Alpert for making so gay a thing these Thursday Theatrical Guest Nights . . . The Montmarte slinks into the town's popular Latin Quarter tonight with the debut of another glamorous Parisian revue . . . back are the lovely dancing gals . . . and adding smart artistry to a colorful presentation are dancers Earl & Josephine (Lambeth Walk) Leach, and the high-flying Antaleks . . . Tony Bruno and Joe Candullo a-switchin' at the baton . . . Attractive Stephen's holds its ranking spot among the important clubs of our village . . . Larry Thornton headlines here this week . . .

With a heavy emphasis on atmosphere, the Beachcomber dances into another carefree week of top-flight merry-making . . . a brilliant and star-spattered revue, with the smart tempo'd rhythm of the Nye Mayhew crew competing with the rhumba razzle-dazzle of Vincent Bragale . . . Anent atmosphere, we needs straightaway peck a line of applause to Cambridge st.'s exciting Hurricane, where the charm of the tropics has been so skillfully captured .

The rollicking trumpet of Harry James fades away, and to the Bermuda Terrace of the Brunswick this week awaits the capable dance crew of Charlie Barnet . . . Charlie has just augmented his band—4 trumpets, 4 trombones now . . . The Leighton Sisters continue as featured entertainers at Ada Bullock's . . . and jot this dining out spot down on your date pad for one of the tastiest steak dinners you've ever enjoyed . . . Furious three-times-nightly floor offerings continue at the Knotty Pine Room of the Hotel Woodcock . . . Those full two-hour revues have made a definite hit with patrons at the gay Crawford House .

Master-minder Izzy Ort reaches into his top hat and again this week does his famed Room pop up with another lighting-paced floor show, featuring all the sparkle and color . . . Dorgan's colorful Old Harbor House continues to attract capacity gatherings . . . as well it might with such lures as Special Shore Dinners, variety floor shows, and Dancing to the pleasing, down-beat crew . . . Host Cappy reports that business at his smart little North Easton spot has never been better . . . Raynor Lehr continues to take the spotlight at the popular Tic Toc . . . at the Blue room at the Westminster are the Mia Miles trio, Fred Chapelle and Ruth Hannon, Ted Muldford and Jimmy McHale's rhythm for dancing . . . Morey Pearl, reports that since changing the name from the Pop-Eye to the 3A Manor, business has increased nicely . . . the Gardner Grill on Mass. Ave. has a Caribbean motif . . . the dinner special here a dandy . . . Ruby Foo's Den getting a nice play from members of "Panama Hattie" . . . Cain's retains its bold billing on the calling cards of many a gadabout . . . autumn seems to have an additional zest to those palate-tempting lobster

One of the best shows this season opens this p. m. at the South Boston Blinstrub Village . . . top-billing goes to Karin Zoska who scored so smartly at the Folies Bergere and the Savoy in London . . . this young lady has plenty of talent and will be well received by the Blinstrub patrons . . . Katie Rhode's orchestra . . . That policy of zowie start-to-finish action continues on at the Silver Dollar Bar, where speed keynotes those gay evening revues .

Joe Waganbach phones to promise one of autumn's merriest shows at his famed Lawrence Hofbrau . . . styled in a Manhattan mood, this rendezvous emerges with a revue sparkling with pretty girls, top-flight talent, and danceable rhythm . . . Mayfair's show this week should be a "must" . . . Harry Marshard returns to the Balinese room at the Somerset . . . The revue at the Essex this week is excellent . . . Joe Rubin's dancing school clicking . . . Joyland continues with sparkling entertainment.

HOW TO GET A LOAN AT LOWER COST

Reduced rates cut payments on all loans over $100

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month has long been below the lawful maximum. Now a new reduction has cut Household's rate to 2% per month on that part of your loan in excess of $100.

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers with you.

B. C. Alone Keeps N. E. in Grid Sun; Ivy Elevens Fade

By BLOCKING BACK

Capable Boston College must shoulder the entire burden of keeping New England in the forefront of the national collegiate football picture. The Eagles are left alone to carry on the fight, deserted by the several so-called New England "Ivy College" teams which have failed dismally to make as much as a fair showing.

That the order has changed and that the "Big Three" of other years have passed, probably forever, into the limbo of the has-beens, was proved Saturday as Harvard, Yale and Princeton not only were defeated, but were woe-begone in their performances.

Between the three of them they were able to register only one touchdown, a sorry spectacle as you recall the glory attached to their names in the past

SHADES OF WALTER CAMP!

The late Walter Camp would hardly believe his senses were he to be alive today and see Harvard smeared 26 to 0 by Michigan, Yale hopelessly beaten 50 to 7 by Penn, the worst defeat in all the Elis' history; and Princeton licked by a very average Navy team, 12 to 6.

Add to that Dartmouth's licking by Columbia, 20 to 6, and Army's annihilation by power-laden Cornell, Brown's defeat by Colgate, 20 to 3, and the case looks hopeless for those diehards who still believe miracles can happen as far as the "Old Guard" is concerned.

The Cadets of West Point have been playing football for 51 years. Most of it has been high grade football, too, but Army's day is gone, apparently. There's just no shaking off such a smearing.

Nor can Dartmouth laugh off successive losses to Franklin and Marshall and Columbia.

Fortunately for the Ivy Leaguers, Cornell and Penn have mighty teams and they help to offset the disaster which has befallen their fellow collegians.

Cornell must be ranked with the nation's best. With Boston College, they represent the hopes of the East.

Tommy Harmon proved all that was said of him as he romped to a trio of touchdowns and passed for the other as Michigan rolled up four of them to bowl over the Crimson.

HARMON VS. O'ROURKE

However it is a question as to whether Harmon or Charley O'Rourke, Boston College ace, carries the more guns. It is a question which time alone can decide.

From a Boston standpoint, O'Rourke will do until someone better comes along. And there's no indication that there's another back in these parts who can closely touch him for his triple threat proclivities. His kicking and passing were inspirational against the Owls.

Both Harmon and O'Rourke have something very much in common, a blocker of exceptional ability. Harmon has his Captain Evashevski. O'Rourke has his Toczylowski. Both of them represent the best in the blocking back business. The way they throw those blocks is a caution.

Just how good they make their star ball carriers is open to question. Certainly they pave the way for Harmon and O'Rourke to do much of their heavy damage.

The Eagles, for all the worries

DON'T WEEP FOR HARVARD; CAN BEAT ALL BUT PENN

By JOE CASHMAN

It was a severe shellacking Harvard's footballers took from Tommy Harmon & Co., of Michigan, but the Cambridge children could be a lot worse off on this blue Monday.

They're all in one piece, the Har-low-vards, after yielding 26 points to the super-human Harmon, and that's more than can be said for Yale, Army, Dartmouth, Brown and Princeton, none of which had to face a seventh-wonder of the gridiron world on the past weekend.

Why do we mention Yale, Army, Dartmouth, Brown and Princeton?

Because Harvard must face each of these before the custom falls to the cut-out parade.

YALE SORRY OUTFIT

Harvard did as well as was expected against the Wolverines, if not better. Throw out Harmon's individual feats, which included scoring 20 points and the Crimson came mighty close to holding its own against the Blue and Maize.

The Har-low-vards should feel neither disgraced nor discouraged.

That's more than can be said for the five aforementioned future opponents of the Harvard entry.

Yale suffered its worst licking in history at the hands of Pennsylvania. A heavily favored and highly touted Princeton machine was wrecked by Navy guns. Dartmouth couldn't get to first base against Columbia's skeletonized squad. Army was firing paper bullets at Cornell. Brown was torn apart by Colgate.

Harvard in its present sorrow, needn't be worrying unduly about Army next week. Dartmouth the following Saturday at Princeton, Brown and Yale on subsequent week ends judging from the recent returns from distant precincts.

Harvard on the contrary should be celebrating. In hopes of knocking off those foes one by one when the time comes.

BETTER THAN SCORE

For Harvard, without Don McNicol at left passe and Bappy Axtes to crack to the end further handicapped by an ineligible in Lou Little MacKinney, it's record was probably a much stronger one than the mighty Michigan team of last year would indicate.

It was a case where between frequent attacks of nerves and stomach upsets caused by the presence of Harmon on the other side, showed a great deal of poise and even better than expected fight. Future opponents were the less exception of the Pennsylvania powerhouse.

Calloway couldn't prevent Harmon, part [illegible] scores of 7 to 6 on one run after another. Neither

Jack Conway, Mike Gillooly and Frank Moynihan shared top honors in the Boston Evening American's weekly gridiron forecast

From a total of 15 leading games, played in the East and Mid-West, these three men missed on only four Tufts-Bates, Princeton-Navy, Northwestern-Ohio State, Northeastern - Springfield and Dartmouth - Columbia were the games which gave the staff the most trouble.

Bill Osmanski In Hospital

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Bill Osmanski, fullback, and Bob Swisher, halfback, of the Chicago Bears, was in Illinois Masonic Hospital today with injuries suffered in Sunday's national professional league football game with the Detroit Lions.

Osmanski, who scored the touchdown that beat the Lions, 7 to 0, suffered a slight concussion in the second period and was removed from the game.

Osmanski graduated from Holy Cross College in 1939

B. C. RATING SUFFERS BY LEAHY'S CHARITY

By FRANK FENWAY

The spotlight of national recognition still focussed in their direction as a result of the capable, if not devastating, demonstration against Temple last Saturday, the Eagles of Boston College prepare this week to sink their talons into what looks like, from a distance, easy prey.

This Saturday's opponent, University of Idaho, has been thrice toppled by opponents in the far-west and has yet to score a point. It is more than likely that the men from Moscow (U. S. A.) will continue this unenviable pace against Boston College.

This is by no means a certainty, however, as Frank Leahy, head man of the Eagles, has shown himself to be quite liberal when it comes to allowing the opposition a tally or two.

Notre Dame under Rockne, long after its football reputation was firmly established, inaugurated the practice of making the opposition

TYROS TO BENEFIT BY HEARST SHOOT

Leaders in New England's rifle shooting sport, men who have devoted their time to furthering markmanship, are joining up with the committee in charge of the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Markmanship Competition, which is to be held under the sponsorship of the Boston Evening American-Daily Record.

Latest to join the Hearst Shoot family is Leon E. Nichols, range officer of the new but prominent Sharon Fish and Game Club, and instructor in the New England Police Revolver Association.

"This is the most opportune time for Mr. Hearst to present such competition for marksmen," Nichols said. "It is particularly timely because there are many things which must be taught novices now, and they can learn them under the Hearst Competitions setup.

"There are only two ways of shooting—right and wrong. It is the task on our veterans to show the novice what a gun is, to show him how to operate it.

"We take him and refuse him ammunition for the first few days. We teach him what we call dry-squeezing before letting him try actual shooting.

"It is this newer group of marksmen who will be coming into the fold through the kindly agency of the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition. We older shooters are one hundred per cent behind it."

Leahy Charity Hurts Eagles

look good by never winning by a larger score than was necessary. Leahy evidently has patterned himself after his old coach in this respect.

The doubtful score Tulane chalked against the Eagles was strictly a handout. When the Green Wave started to roll against his second team, Leahy, rather than halt the tide against his first team, sent in a batch of third stringers. It was against this outfit that the disputed Tulane tally was registered.

In the Temple fray Leahy again showed his penchant for allowing his opponents to make a contest out of what might well be a walkaway by disdaining to substitute key men in an endeavor to halt a rolling Temple attack.

Leahy is perhaps being lenient with his opposition in an effort to lull future foes into a sense of false security. But more likely it's just that he's a nice guy who hates to turn the heat on fellow coaches who aren't blessed with his material.

SHOULD PILE IT ON

If that is the case, what Mr. Leahy needs to round him into the perfect coach is one season with an inferior club.

Two or three real beltings by teams he has made look good in the past and Coach Frank will realize that the time to make hay in this era of highly commercialized football is while the old touchdown sun is shining.

In a few years, if he continues to be successful in turning out top-flight grid clubs, the capable Mr. Leahy will be able to afford winning them in the Notre Dame fashion.

But right now, while the Eagles are still just a little bit off the pace as far as national recognition is concerned, they should be out there winning them as impressively as possible.

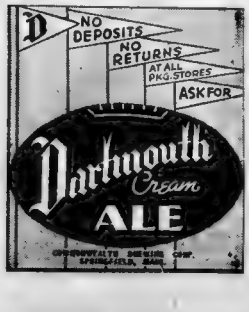
And make no bones about it. This present Boston College club could have won both the Tulane and Temple games by much larger scoring margins than they did.

FIFTH IN RANKINGS

That first team has been used sparingly thus far. A second team that in some places is as strong as, if not stronger than the first, is woefully weak in others, and it is against these second team weaknesses that Tulane and Temple took advantage.

When the Georgetown, Auburn and Holy Cross games come rolling around on successive Saturdays a few weeks hence, Boston College will be rated no higher than fifth nationally because of the calibre of their mid-season opposition.

It will be in these three final games that the Lake st. Leahyites will have to win that top spot in the national ranking, and it is then, my frends, that you'll be seeing a whole lot more of that first string Eagle football team in action.



Barba Dies After Spill

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (INS)—Johnny Barba, 21-year-old jockey, was dead here today as a result of injuries received when he fell from his horse in the sixth race at Jamaica last Monday.

Hospital attaches said the little jockey had been unconscious since injured.

Barba fell when a jam occurred 50 yards after the start of the race. Some spectators and stewards at the track held Jockey Don Meade's mount responsible for the accident, but Meade was held blameless following a two-day investigation.

KRESS ST. PAUL PILOT

ST. PAUL, Oct. 14 (AP)—Ralph (Red) Kress, coach with the Detroit American League baseball team, last season, will be the new manager of the St. Paul Club of the American Ass'n.

they gave their followers at times during the Fenway Park battle, were always on top and looked even more superior than the score would indicate.

Whatever crudeness they showed will in the long run work to their advantage. Coach Frank Leahy should be glad today that these mistakes cropped up at a time when they did little damage. They can now be eradicated in time for the major offensives to come.

SULLIVAN HOLY CROSS STAR

Holy Cross came tearing back to beat Carnegie Tech, Tom Sullivan being the new Purple star who ran riot. A bad break cost Tufts what looked like a certain victory. The Jumbos lost to Bates when a kick was blocked in the closing moments with a Bates back falling on it for a touchdown which decided the issue, 12-7.

Northeastern turned in its first victory in two years, 12 to 7, over Springfield. New Hampshire put on a whirlwind fourth quarter two-touchdown finish to beat Maine, 20 to 14. A third-quarter Colby field goal permitted the Mules to remain undefeated and untied and represented the margin of a 10 to 7 victory over Vermont.

Farther afield, Fordham tacked a third straight defeat on the hapless Tulane team which was stricken with misfortune on the eve of the battle.

Billy De Correvont finally started to crash into the promise he showed as a schoolboy as he scored his first touchdown in Dyche Stadium to give Northwestern a 6 to 3 win over Ohio State.

Georgia Tech came with a last minute rush to pile up two touchdowns but finished on the short end to Notre Dame, 26 to 20.

Belated Advice on How to Stop Harmon

By AUSTEN LAKE

I HASTEN TO AGREE that Michigan's Tommy Harmon comes nearer to the perfect football player than has been seen in swine-skin circles for several college generations, which are a matter of four years each. He is a concentrated package of Nature's anatomical blessings, as Joe DiMaggio is to major league baseball, Joe Louis to heavyweight chin-biffing and Glenn Cunningham was to mile racing. Nature is prankish that way.

AUSTEN LAKE

But don't you think it possible to praise Harmon too much and his ten team-mates too little? For there were chasms, clefts and rents opened in the Harvard line Saturday through which Uncle Amos with his arthritic hip could have waded. Indeed Tommy's real task seldom began till he reached the outposts behind the Harvard line and had to solo the rest of the way. He could solo pretty good too!

There was something about Tommy's limber-legged, half-loafing style of stride which made one flip the pages of memory's album to the picture of Harvard's Ned Mahan. The same antelope, eight-foot step, the same negligent approach and sudden acceleration of speed. "How do you do it?" queried a mystified Boston reporter as Tommy stripped off his steaming woolens, peeled off his form-fitting pants and left them in a sweaty puddle. Tommy screwed his face into a kind of adult, Mickey Mouse grin. He didn't know any more than Ty Cobb, in his prime, knew how HE did it—or Man o' War, or Eddie Shore or Jack Dempsey, or Bobby Jones or Bill Tilden, or Sonja Henie or any of Nature's pre-natal pets could explain how they had excelled in their specialties. Twenty-six years before another reporter had asked Mahan how he did it. "Oh I just hold out a leg," said Ned. "N'then when they grab at it I pull it back." Sounds simple!

HARMON'S ELUSIVENESS IS LARGELY illusionary—a long, stride that is so fluid that he deceives a tackler's sense of timing. His gait is faster than it looks. He doesn't churn in a lot of intricate little dance steps. He flows along loosely, approaching a tackler with that in his manner which says, "Aw, let's forget this one. I'll just curl up in your arms and we'll make it a mutual flop." But at the moment the tackler accepts the invitation, there he goes galloping at a tangent . . . too late! too late!

Theoretically every football coach knows how to stop Harmon. I'll bet a New Deal dollar that Bob Zuppke, the old Illinois wizard is jotting down little blackboard squares, circles and arrows right now to show his ends how to go banging in to bottle-up Michigan's fandangoes behind the line. He'll instruct his roving center to plug the gaps betwixt tackle and guard; and his defensive halfbacks how to guard the outside. But the trouble with this theory is that it requires a pair of 200-pound theoretical ends who can stop an irresistible force with chin and forehead; a theoretical center who can grab whole armfuls of legs and snap them like a fagot of dry sticks; and a pair of theoretical Phi Beta Kappa kermudgeons who can decide in an eye-flicker whether Tommy is carrying the ball or just faking before chucking one of his bee-lines downfield.

Harlow, with his treasure-trove of football knowledge, knew how to stop Harmon too. It was comparatively simple. For, if the Harvard Foundation had said, secretly of course, "Now Dick go out and get yourself a herd of schoolboy beeves from the tobacco fields, factories and docks and we'll fix it with the registrar to enroll them in the pastry baking, furnace tending and rug-beating courses" . . . why, like as not last Saturday he'd have had a flock of whiskeroos with the requisite muscle and foot-flit to smother Harmon in his tracks. Indeed he might even have come up with a couple of Harmons himself. That's how simple it is!

WELL THEN HERE IS YALE, licked by Penn 50-7 and Cornell slapping Army 45-0—a pair of the most ignominious calamities in the history of those old Ivy overlords. And yet it was only a whoop and a holler ago that Gil Dobie was drummed out of Cornell for flunking his schedule and Penn dropped John Harmon (no relation to Tommy) down a manhole drain for taking his autumnal thumpings. So how do you explain those sudden miracles of recovery at Philadelphia and Ithaca now? And would you credit them to coach or players? And who cares? If you don't I don't!

Still the old notion that in college football equals are pitted against equals seems to have pulled apart at the seams this season. You wouldn't call Penn and Yale equals or Cornell and Army equals as they compared last Saturday. Somehow, in a manner not explained by the authorities, Penn and Cornell and certain other et cetera colleges have undergone a spiritual and physical revival in the type of muscularity which has entered their halls. Why doesn't Harvard undergo a similar rebirth once in a while?

Well then, Harvard hasn't done much since Haughton went away and there are many old Crimsons including Tack Hardwick, Bill Garrelon and Sid Curtis who insist that they didn't do whatever it was they did even then. Anyway Harlow has taken the kids which came to hand, doused them over with polish and given a few beatings and taken more than a few himself. But he knows, and we know, that it takes a special, ultra kind of kid to bottle up super, superior types like Michigan's Tommy Harmon and Penn's Francis Xavier Reagen and others of that ilk. So the Harvard student body has been only average as to wind and limb, with now and then a young male bull like Torby Macdonald or Vern Struck. But there have never been enough male bulls at one time to match the prize herds and cultured buffaloes of most of the other big universities. Eh wot?

Absolve Eli Coaches For Gridiron Rout

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Oct. 14 (AP)—The Yale football team, back home after absorbing the worst beating any Eli eleven ever took, started rallying its shattered forces today for the Dartmouth game while the official word went out that no blame was to be attached to the coaching staff for the 50-7 trouncing administered by Pennsylvania.

Ogden Miller, Yale's new chairman of athletics, said he expected the coaches would be "abused in some quarters, but they are not to blame."

"Yale was beaten by one of the best teams in the country," he continued. "Penn has a tremendous amount of talent and it is well coached and efficient. We made quite a few mistakes and Penn capitalized on them. But in the main it was a case of too much talent.

SHORT OF GRID MATERIAL

"The game indicated a relative shortage of football material at Yale, but I still believe in our policies. Naturally we'd like to see more football players here, but there will be no attempt to bring in athletes."

Miller said there was a wide spread, and incorrect, impression that Yale deliberately turned away athletes and that the costs of attending the university were so high that a student of limited financial means would be unable to attend.

Miller, who replaces the post of athletic chairman with "control of direction of manual policies," said that in the latter capacity he hoped to be one to do something to correct this impression.

The Yale News, undergraduate publication commented gloomily on the situation and its sports columnist wrote that "Yale is no longer in a position to compete with such machines as Penn and Cornell . . . Even Yale will have to go out [illegible] power or will not be able to hold its head above water in the future."

DUCKY POND SILENT

The coaches themselves had little to say. Head Coach "Ducky" Pond studied moving pictures of the game this morning and said the team apparently played as well as it was able against the powerful Penn machine.

There was still doubt whether Hovey Seymour, the Elis' punter and best running back, and Quarterback Ray Anderson, sidelined by injuries since the Virginia game, would be in shape to go against Dartmouth.

Bruins Arrive at Hershey Camp

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 14 (INS)—The Boston Bruins arrive today to open their training quarters for the coming 1940-1941 National Hockey League season.

Twenty players are making the trip this year. Of these only two, Herb Cain and Eddie Wiseman, were not with the Bruins at the start of last season. Cain was acquired from the Canadiens and Wiseman from the Americans during the season.

Three exhibition games with the Hershey Bears are scheduled before the Bruins open the season against Lea Canadiens in Montreal, November 2.

Jackinthebox broke early, forced the pace of Manseo early, dropped back slightly to the drive, then came with determination to outgame Manseo in the strides. The latter went to the front, opened up a clear lead, held away to the drive, then faltered slightly. Squawker, always close up, closed stoutly in the drive to nip Night Chase for the show at the wire. Night Chase challenged early on the outside, swung to the inside for the drive, then tired. Beaufuss improved his position after a slow beginning but was unable to menace. The others were always outrun.

Crusher Predicts Win Over Garibaldi

Steve (Crusher) Casey, heavyweight wrestling champion, predicts he will dispose of Gino Garibaldi in straight falls when they meet next Wednesday night in one of the main events of Promoter Paul Bowser's inaugural wrestling tournament at the Boston Arena.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

THE IDEA BEHIND the organization of the holier than thou Ivy League may have been a lofty one, but it certainly has not resulted in developing football teams that can win games when pitted against first class opposition.

The Ivy League hit a new low when Harvard lost to Michigan, Yale was crushed by Penn, Princeton was beaten by the Navy, and Dartmouth was conquered by Columbia.

I think most members of the Ivy League have a defeatist complex. They are beaten before they even walk out on the gridiron.

Even though Ivy League members do not pay their football players and also refuse to offer them room and meals, it would seem as if large universities like Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth should be able to develop first class teams from their student bodies.

Football players who go to Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth have had every possible educational advantage, while they have been coached in athletics by experienced men in leading prep schools. There should not be any reason why a boy who has been able to study and engage in athletics under the most ideal conditions should not be able to play football or any other sport as well as some youngster who has come up the hard way.

I think one of the chief troubles with football players in the Ivy League is that they admit the superiority of many of their rivals before a game starts. How many Harvard players gave themselves a chance against Tommy Harmon and his Michigan playmates at the Stadium? I doubt if any of them did.

As a result of this mental complex, the Harvard players were probably hoping to keep down the Michigan score rather than figuring how they could lick the Westerners.

To become a champion in any sport one must believe in himself He must be convinced that no matter how severe the opposition that he can overcome it.

* * *

Strong Attack Best Way to Win

GREAT FOOTBALL teams can be beaten by a powerful attack. One seldom can win in sports or in anything else by playing a defensive game.

I do not agree with those persons who say Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth should hire professional teams if they are to continue meeting the top flight elevens. It is better that college football should be abolished than that it should become a racket.

Ivy League members should throw off their inferiority complex in football affairs. They should realize their players are the physical and mental equals of the leading athletes in the country, and that they can win if they have the will to do so. I shall always remember a conversation I had with Gene Tunney a few days before he won the heavyweight championship of the world from Jack Dempsey.

"Dempsey, like myself, has only two fists," said Tunney. "Why should I be afraid of him? I am in good physical condition. I have been blessed with a good body and a fine brain. I intend to win, and I shall not permit Dempsey or anyone else to block my advancement."

When athletes possess that kind of spirit, they must go places in sports.

Tommy Harmon Put On His Show

TOMMY HARMON did not disappoint the 30,000 persons who attended the Michigan-Harvard game at the Stadium. He proved he could pass, run and kick. He has All-America stamped all over him.

Harvard is congratulating itself that it was only beaten by a score of 26 to 0. This is the wrong attitude to assume, and is open admission of a defeatist complex. There is not any football glory in a 7 to 6 defeat let alone a 26 to 0 setback.

Harvard looks ahead to meeting the Army next Saturday. West Point will come here following its crushing defeat at the hands of Cornell.

Cornell is also a member of the Ivy League. Like the University of Pennsylvania, also an Ivy Leaguer, Cornell does not frown upon a football player who is obliged to do chores to pay for his expenses through college. The result is that Cornell and Penn have not dropped to the athletic level of Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth.

Harvard men have become accustomed to watching their football teams go down to defeat, but it is a new experience for Dartmouth graduates and students to see the Big Green lose two games in a row, and against ordinary teams. I look for Dartmouth men to emit a howl that will be heard from Hanover, N. H., to the highest point on Mount Washington.

A college that only a few years ago boasted of having one of the finest college football teams in the country cannot be enthusiastic about its 1940 gridiron model.

I think if the directors of the athletic departments gave less time to talking about athletic ideals and tried to instill a little more spirit into their teams that they would not have to offer so many alibis following their football games.

The various athletic departments have not become so amateurish in their mental outlook on sports that they have eliminated the box office. There is still as great a scramble for the dollar by the athletic bosses as there is for a forward pass tossed during the height of a hectic football game.

AMATEURS IN GARDEN RING TEST

This promises to be a banner night in Irish-American A. A. fistic history as the club sponsors the third in a series of four Golden Gloves elimination tournaments at the Garden.

First of all, four New England and State senior and junior champions as well as several former New England titleholders, are listed among the more than 50 competitors in tonight's tests.

In addition world light heavyweight Billy Conn, who meets Al McCoy here Friday, will be in Tommy Sullivan's corner as the state light heavyweight king tries to qualify for the Golden Gloves finals which will be held Oct 28 at the Arena.

There will be contests in all eight classes at championship weights tonight All the boxers must report at the Garden at 6 o'clock to weigh in and pass physical examination, and the show will get under way at 8:30.

A large delegation of fight followers from the Merrimac Valley will be on hand for many Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill boys are to take part.

Dave Andrews

Great interest is centered in the 147-pound class where Jimmy Mulligan, Lowell, the senior champion, and Dave Andrews, also from Lowell, the junior welterweight title-holder, are slated to oppose each other.

Others in that weight are Theodore Tuggles, Roxbury; Vince Sardo, Revere; Mike Cocozza, Haverhill; William Flanagan, Lawrence; Joe Nardone, Woburn, and Mike Melloni, Wareham.

Vincent Doyle, Roxbury, state bantam champ last year, will try to win the 126 pounds class.

Malden Man Wins $50 Prize

The winner and the second champion at picking football winners is Howard Houghton of Dana St., Malden, who today gets a check for $50 because he was adjudged the foremost selector in the Record-American football contest for the games played October 5.

There are 25 other winners, who get $1 each, and they're listed below.

Yawkey Gives Evans $17,500 Salary for '41

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Dan Daniel reports that when Billy Evans resigned, or was fired, from the Red Sox, Tom Yawkey made Bill accept the $17,500 he would have drawn in salary for 1941. Not many guys like Yawkey.

A look at the Temple-Boston College lineup indicates you couldn't tell the players even with a score card . . . President Ford Frick of the National League is slamming critics who said the Series were dull and boresome . . . The Kennel Club was so crowded Prof. Francis Schmidt of Ohio State could barely squeeze in . . . And Kennel Club: That's Mal Stevens of New York U. they's carting in.

Not only the Tulane players are catching it coming and going. They told a story here of how one of their cheer leaders broke an arm doing a cartwheel and is out for the season.

Coach Shaughnesay has taken San Francisco by storm. He is showing them football they never dreamed was possible with the squad at Stanford.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO. 4

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games, to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest, excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie game, place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except those for which you predicted a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average score in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces, or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight, Friday, the day before the games.

The use of one or more boxtops or facsimiles thereof as the entry blank in this contest is prohibited. Tracings of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library, or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable, and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions $100.00 will be awarded the lucky contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores of the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered, $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct, and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the lucky contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct selections and should two or more contestants tie for this prize lucky contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct selections and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

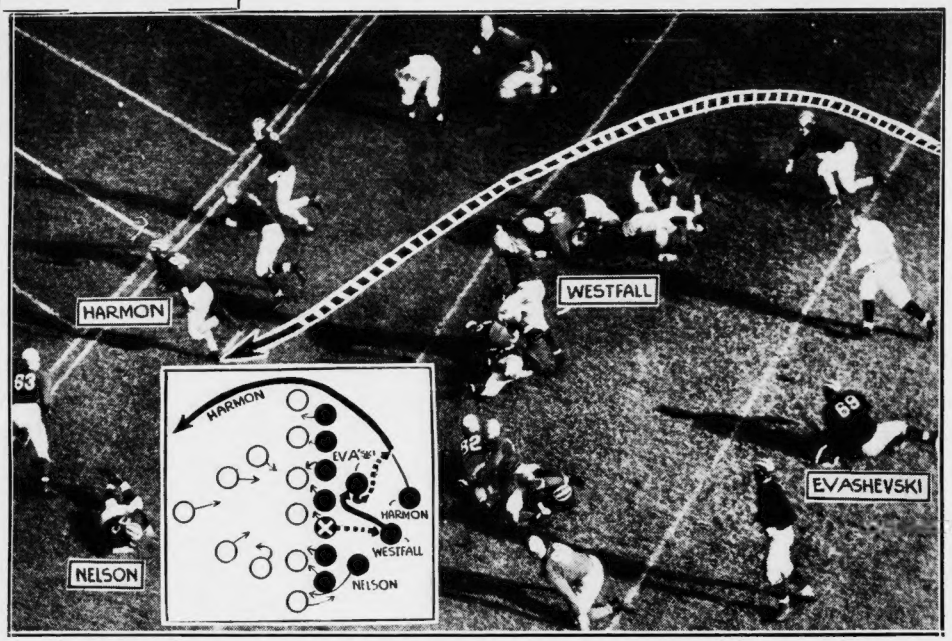
Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

Mail all entries to the Record-American Football Contest Editor, P. O. Box 1987, Boston, Mass.

In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be omitted from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed then that game is, automatically omitted.

Blue Plate, Mid-West Style

Casey Bears A-1 Grid Magnet



MICHIGAN VERSION of Frank Leahy's "Blue-Plate" special. Tom Harmon, Wolverines wonder back, is shown scoring his third touchdown in game with Harvard at the Stadium. Tom started on this journey on a play resembling Boston College's pet trick maneuver in which Henry Toczylowski gets a direct pass from center, dashes up to the line of scrimmage and hands the pigskin to a guard who flips it back to Charlie O'Rourke. Latter passes while the opposition is looking around the center of the line for a ball carrier. On this Michigan play, Westfall gets the pass from center, moves up to the line, where he hands the ball to backfield mate, Capt. Forrest Evashevski. The latter spins and flings the ball back to Harmon, who skirts his right end after the enemy has been sucked in, and usually scores, as he did in this case. It's quite a play, if you have a passer like O'Rourke or a runner like Harmon.

Rout Yankees Before 7700

By SAM BROGNA

Boston Bears, riding the crest of a two-game win streak and highly confident of stretching it to three before performing at Fenway Park again next Sunday, shuffle off to Buffalo where they will play their first out-of-town game Wednesday night in the newly organized American Professional League against the Buffalo Indians.

Continuing to show marked improvement since their disappointing 17 to 0 opening game loss o the Columbus Bulls, last year's champions nearly two weeks ago, these same Bears, all former collegiate performers, are working smoother now than Waltham's best watches.

This was very much in evidence as they knocked off the New York Yankees by the convincing score of 28 to 7, at Fenway Park.

The Bears gained in two departments yesterday, at the gate and in the league standing.

An official checkup reveals that 7700 clicked through the turnstiles, an encouraging gain from the previous two weeks. Too, as a result of the victory, the Bears have a clear claim to third place in the standing.

These Bears of Eddie Casey's are very entertaining. For practically the entire 60 minutes of pay, they filed the air with bombs, switching to the running plays occasionally just for variety.

Boston's four touchdowns were scored in three of the four frames; one in the first, two in the third and the other in the last. First two were made possible on long passes and the other brace by a ground attack.

Keith Ramspot, Joe Yablonski, Morrie Kohler and Andy Karpus were the Bears' score markers with Warren Negri and Frank Patrick the point after touchdown producers, the former booting three and the latter the fourth, all place-kicks.

Bill Hutchinson, former Dartmouth grid hero, was the big gun for the visitors. If it hadn't been for his all around play, the locals would have easily doubled the count.

The former Green warrior combined with Harland Gustafson for the Yanks' lone tally in the second period, knotting the score.

Harvard Should Capture 5 of 6 Remaining Tests

could Michigan State.

But the Harvards could and did. True, they couldn't keep Thundering Thomas from chalking up three touchdowns, to bring his three-game point total to 69, and passing his way to another score.

But 15 yards was the longest single gain by the Antelope from Ann Arbor, and he was being assisted by mates who greatly outweighed their Crimson-jersied adversaries.

OFFENSE CLICKS

The Harvard's didn't come close to scoring themselves, but that proved little as to their offensive abilities.

They didn't have the ball long enough to show what they could do in the way of presenting an attack.

With Harmon carrying, the Wolverines when not punting at the goal, could rip off first downs about as often as they pleased. Consequently they were rarely forced to kick.

Only six times did they give Harvard the ball via the punt route and Harvard when in possession, ripped off five first downs, while gaining 97 yards. Not a bad percentage.

The Harlow hocus-pocus, when unveiled, bewildered the experienced Westerners. Once Fran Lee was in the clear. Another time Bill Brown was in the open.

Had either of these backs possessed Harmon's speed, they'd have been off to the races. Had they been facing a club not quite as alert and fast as the Wolverines, they might never have been caught.

The same sort of opportunities figure to bring scoring dividends against clubs like Army, Dartmouth, Brown, Princeton and Yale.

Mark you, we're not intimating that Harvard was impressive in defeat. It wasn't. We're merely opining that the Crimson wasn't as black as it appeared in Sunday print.

The Har-low-vards repeatedly made costly fumbles. Too often their kicks were either blocked or didn't go anywhere. Their strategy, too, left much to be desired.

KICKING WAY OFF

Such errors would lick them against Slippery Rock.

But they shouldn't be making these errors in future frays.

We say that because we think most of their mistakes on Saturday last could be traced directly to fear of Harmon.

The kickers were under instructions to keep their boots away from Harmon. They followed instructions too perfectly. They'd kick five yards into the lap of the crippled Coach Harlow on the Harvard bench. Or they'd delay so long trying to pick their spots that some burly Michigan forward would crash in and block the ball.

So, too, it was when the Crimson backs faded to pass and found all eligible receivers covered. Instead of flinging or grounding the ball and gambling on regaining lost ground, the Crimson passers would hold the pigskin and accept the loss rather than take a chance of having a blind heave intercepted by Harmon.

In short, the Har-low-vards weren't playing their normal game.

When they return to normalcy, and there's no reason why they shouldn't at once and stay that way, they ought to give a fair account of themselves.

Maestro of "Swing & Sway" Consults No. 1 Hair Specialist

BOSTON, Oct. 13 (JW)—Sammy Kaye, world famous orchestra leader whose top Swing and Sway Band is now appearing at the Keith Boston Theatre, knows that his good head of hair is a real asset. He naturally consults John E. Warner—as have so many other leaders in the business, amusement and professional worlds. Says Sammy Kaye of John E. Warner, "Your honest advice and treatments are widely known to musicians as the best available anywhere." Each week hundreds of men are saving and improving their hair through treatments in one of the largest and best equipped offices of this kind in the world. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness, such as excessive loss of hair, dandruff, itchy, oily or very dry scalp, you should in your own best interests consult John E. Warner. No case is ever accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are reasonably certain. There is no charge or obligation for a private examination and consultation. His offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington St., opposite R. H. White's, near the corner of West St., Rooms 710-715. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M., daily. Saturdays to 6 P. M. There is a separate department for women. Fees for treatment are moderate. Adv.

DODGERS PRO GRID STANDOUT

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Dr. John Bain Sutherland is the "rookie" coach of the National Football League, but you'd never know it by the current doings of his Brooklyn Dodgers.

The veteran Jock looks anything but a newcomer to the cash sport as he drives his Dodgers on the upward trail, apparently eager and ready to step into the Eastern Division lead if and when the undefeated Washington Redskins falter.

The Dodgers, using considerably more passes than Sutherland's famed college elevens employed, racked up their third straight league triumph yesterday, a 21 to 0 decision over the Pittsburgh Steelers before 19,468 delighted Flatbush fans.

Jock's boys scored twice on aerials and once on the ground while a sturdy defense bottled the visitors.

The club's only setback was a 24-17 loss to the Redskins in Sutherland's debut as a pro coach. In four games Brooklyn has averaged three touchdowns a game while limiting the opposition to 11 points.

Washington however, hasn't shown the slightest inclination to fade, turning back the stubborn Chicago Cardinals, 28 to 21, yesterday before 33,691 spectators.

The Redskins were unable to sew up the game until the final period

FAIR SHOWERS CLOUDY RAIN

Message

Her sister, Princess Margaret Rose (left) at her side, Princess Elizabeth, 14-year-old daughter of Britain's king and queen, sends a message of encouragement to the children of the British Empire in her first international radio talk. She said that "in the end, all will be well."

Survivors

Their unarmed merchant ship, Kenordac, shelled by a Nazi U-boat without warning, these crew members drifted in an open boat for hours before being rescued by a British warship. They're shown nearing the rescue vessel . . . "somewhere off the British coast."
